WEATHER

Increasing cloudiness and cooler today, with a chance of showers possibly changing to snow flurries tonight.

WALTER LIPPMANN

For self-government to work, one party must reflect and represent the realities of contemporary life.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

We may have a white Christmas yet. The weatherman says it will be windy and much cooler today with showers changing to snow flurries tonight. Temperatures are expected to fall to the middle 20's this afternoon. The extended forecast for Saturday through Wednesday indicates cool temperatures over the weekend turning warming Sunday and cooler again Monday. The daily high temperature readings will be in the upper 30s with the night-time low reading in the low 20s. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report, high 59 degrees, low 35 degrees, there was no precipitation recorded. The river level was 3.7 feet and falling.

Kinzua Dam Report

Pool level 1310.15 feet. Upstream temperature 38 degrees. Downstream temperature 38 degrees. Reading at the Warren gauge 3.75 feet and falling.

WARREN COUNTY

Warren County Planning and Zoning Commission met last night to consider several subdivision applications, discuss a change in zoning, consider next years budget and appoint a nominating committee. Other items considered included a proposed plan for a camper-trailer court and a replacement for Robert Peterson as planning director.

Harry Wiborg Conarro, a life long resident of Warren, and formerly a president of Struthers Wells Corp., is dead at 77. Conarro died at 12:20 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 21, 1967, in New York City.

THE NATION

Congressional candidates already are scrambling for money to finance next year's campaign in what is expected to be the most expensive election ever.

THE WORLD

The presidents of the United States and South Vietnam reached an apparent agreement Thursday night on the question of talks between the South Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front. President Johnson had endorsed on Tuesday the idea of such talks as potentially fruitful, but President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam had opposed it. A communique issued after Thursday night said Thieu would be willing to meet with individual members of the NLF, the political arm of the Viet Cong, but did not regard the Front as an independent organization.

The Senate foreign relations committee released testimony that the administration prepared tentative "drafts" of the Tonkin Gulf resolution before the attack by North Vietnamese PT boats on American destroyers in August, 1964 brought about its passage.

South Africa's heart team says it is ready to try again. A post-mortem examination shows that Washkansky died from a severe lung infection and that his body had not rejected the new heart.

King Constantine and the Greek government clear the way for the king's return but there is no firm indication that it will be soon.

SPORTS

Warren Area High School's wrestling team won 11 of 12 matches to overwhelm visiting Erie Strong Vincent here last night, 40-3, completing a sweep of city schools for the Dragons. Pins by Bob Seagist, Dane Sorensen and Lee Bryan highlighted the Blue and White's third straight victory. Page 6.

Eisenhower's matmen posted their second Southern Tier Conference victory by whipping Pine Valley, 33-19, on the Panther's mats. Gary Gage, Gary Dalrymple and Dave Burnett recorded falls for the Knights, who took three matches by forfeit. Page 6.

Tonight's county basketball schedule shows one independent tilt and two alumni contests. Youngsville High plays host to Clymer, N.Y., the second meet of the season between the Eagles and the Pirates. Eisenhower and Tidioute both play their respective alumni. Page 6.

Daryle Lamonica, who led the Oakland Raiders to the American Football League's Western Division title, was named Most Valuable Player in the junior loop by the AP yesterday. Lamonica was obtained in a pre-season trade from the Buffalo Bills. Page 7.

The Green Bay Packers, defending world champions, discuss Saturday's Western Division title game against the Los Angeles Rams, including their plan to stop the Rams' "Fearsome Foursome."

Gulf of Tonkin Resolution Drafted Prior to Attacks

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Testimony was released by the Senate foreign relations committee Thursday showing that the administration prepared "contingent drafts" of the Southeast Asia resolution prior to attacks by North Vietnamese PT boats on American destroyers in August, 1964.

It was these attacks in the Gulf of Tonkin on Aug. 2 and Aug. 4 that led President Johnson to send to Congress the resolution stating congressional approval for "all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

Official disclosure that "contingent drafts" of the resolution, commonly called "The Tonkin Gulf Resolution," were prepared in advance came with the release of exchanges between Senator J. W. Fulbright, committee chairman, and William P. Bundy, Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian Affairs, in a secret hearing on Sept. 20, 1966, more than two years after passage of the resolution.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department disclosed today that the wake of a torpedo fired by a North Vietnamese PT boat was observed by the crew of a U.S. destroyer in the Aug. 4, 1964, encounter in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The visual sighting of the torpedo wake by four crew members of the destroyer Turner Joy is regarded by Defense Department officials as the most conclusive piece of evidence confirming that two destroyers came under attack by North Vietnamese PT boats.

The Pentagon evidence, it was learned from congressional sources, recently was presented in a still-secret report to the Senate foreign relations committee, some of whose members are skeptical that the American destroyers were actually attacked, as claimed by the administration.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The death of Louis Washkansky was blamed on pneumonia Thursday, and the surgeon who made history's first heart transplant said he will not hesitate to undertake another such operation, already planned.

Prof. Christian N. Barnard reported he saw no evidence that the body of 53-year-old Washkansky had rejected the transplanted heart of a 25-year-old woman.

Canada Sold U.S. Gold Worth $100 Million

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada has sold the United States $100 million worth of gold to support the U.S. dollar, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp told the House of Commons today.

The gold was part of Canada's official exchange fund, and proceeds of the sale have been invested on behalf of the fund in short-term securities, Sharp said.

He told questioners Canada has made similar, though smaller, sales in the past for the same purpose.

Canada sold the United States $200 million worth of gold from the exchange fund last year and invested the proceeds in interest-bearing securities of the U.S. government.

He told questioners Canada has made similar, though smaller, sales in the past for the same purpose.

Lawmakers Vote Benefits For Themselves

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania lawmakers wound up the year-long session of the General Assembly Thursday by voting pay raises for their leaders and staff employees, and increased pension benefits for themselves.

The salary bill, which also would create 127 new jobs, was passed by the House, 156-34. The vote on the pension measure was 126-64. Both proposals were quickly relayed to the Senate which concurred in House amendments.

If Gov. Shafer signs the package, legislative employees would receive pay raises averaging 10 per cent at a total additional cost of $1 million annually.

Johnson and Thieu Agree on Ways To Promote Peace

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Johnson and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam emerged from a working dinner Thursday night and publicly declared their agreement on ways to promote peace in Vietnam.

The joint statement sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, Thieu said.

Johnson's latest suggestions "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

The statement seemed to make clear Johnson and Thieu agreed on possible informal talks with NLF representatives but were not committed to talks with the front as an organization. It also said the two leaders saw no sign North Vietnam was ready to talk peace and agreed "in these circumstances there was no alternative to continuing appropriate military actions."

Johnson and Thieu are in Australia for memorial services Friday for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt who vanished Sunday while swimming.

Johnson received assurances from Australia's interim prime minister that its support of U.S. policy in Vietnam won't change.

Johnson and Thieu's meeting at the U.S. Embassy followed statements in the past few days that indicated they might be in conflict about the NLF's possible role in Vietnam peace moves.

Before he left Washington, Johnson called for informal talks between the Thieu government and the NLF. When Thieu left Saigon he said he would talk with representatives of the Communist front only if they defected and gave their allegiance to his government.

The joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

Israeli Forces Growing Along East Bank of Suez

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
CAIRO — Usually reliable sources reported Thursday that there have been recent indications of an abrupt increase in the level of Israeli forces strung along the east bank of the Suez Canal.

There was no official confirmation from the Egyptian government of the reported buildup, but it was being interpreted by some analysts here as a move to strengthen Israel's hand in eventual diplomatic maneuvering toward an Egyptian-Israeli settlement.

The informants, said that in at least some areas along the canal Israelis had been moving up armor and military vehicles under heavy camouflage and had built new military airstrips.

As far as was known in Cairo, the reported strengthening of the Israeli military presence along the canal has not led to skirmishing with Egyptian forces deployed along the west bank of the canal.

Earlier this month the Security Council authorized Secretary General U Thant to increase the number of U.N. peacekeeping observers along the canal from 43 to 90 in an effort to increase their effectiveness.

Way Cleared for King's Return to Greek Throne

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — King Constantine and the Greek government Thursday cleared the way—at least on the surface—for the monarch's return to Greece.

But there was no firm indication the king was planning to come back soon. A major stumbling block in the negotiations could still delay his return indefinitely.

One of the mediators between the king and the government was reported planning to return to Rome for further discussions with Constantine.

The mediator, retired Air Vice-Marshal Haralambos Potamianos, said he might go Friday.

Western diplomats here said one of the key issues still unresolved is whether Constantine would accept the government's promises of a restoration of democracy as sufficient guarantee that it will.

They also pointed out the government has had nothing to say so far on whether it will accept the king if he insists on bringing Queen Mother Frederika back with him. She is not popular in Greece.

Constantine said in Rome Wednesday night he would return to Greece only if the government gave assurances it would restore democracy. The government says it is doing just that.

Sources close to the government said the conditions set by the king have been acceptable to the government all along.

Constantine demanded the government announce a firm timetable for the re-establishment of democracy in Greece, with specific dates for a national referendum on a new constitution, and for the national elections the government has promised.

The government here had promised earlier this week to announce these dates, possibly before the end of the year.

It has also said the draft of the new constitution will be presented to the government Saturday.

Assembly Loves Santa

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania House of Representatives, in one of its last official acts of the 1967 session, adopted a resolution Thursday praising Santa Claus and urging him to pay a visit to all members of the General Assembly on Christmas Eve.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Charles F. Mebus, R-Montgomery, noted that "everyone enjoys the annual visits of this jolly man." A copy of the resolution was ordered sent to Santa, whose address was listed as North Pole, Zip Code 00000.

Police Patrols

To Be Increased

Patrols by Pennsylvania State Police throughout the three-day Christmas holiday weekend will be increased beginning at 6 p.m. today and end at midnight Monday, according to Capt. R. D. Dunham of Troop E, Erie.

Troop E includes the four counties of Warren, Erie, Crawford and Venango.

Although aided by the use of radar equipment and unmarked vehicles in catching the law violators, the greatest concern is preventing accident damage, bodily injuries and fatalities, Capt. Dunham said.

Car Recovered

State police at Tionesta reported Wednesday night that a car stolen from Butler has been recovered in Hickory township.

The 1964 Lincoln had been taken from a used car lot in Butler and was recovered at a service station. The motor in the vehicle had overheated and was damaged, police said, and the youth who took it just left it at the service station.

State police said Butler authorities had apprehended the juvenile who stole the vehicle.

Tornado Rips Into Missouri

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — A tornado that dropped out of a pre-dawn thunderstorm wrecked an area of this southeast Missouri town of 2,800 Thursday, then leap-frogged to a rural area. Three persons were killed and 39 injured.

The twister was one of several Thursday in southern Missouri and Illinois. McBride, a tiny Missouri town on the Mississippi River south of St. Louis, was hit about noon and 18 injuries were reported.

Damage from high winds also was reported at Breese and Jerseyville in southern Illinois and several points in southeast Missouri.

Most of the injuries were believed minor. Twenty persons were taken to a hospital in Bonne Terre because Potosi was without electric power.

The tornado struck Potosi without warning. Few heard it coming until it was upon them. Fifteen buildings in the heart of Potosi were either destroyed or damaged heavily.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said about 50 homes were either demolished or damaged heavily. The twister hit at 1:17 a. m.

Four Escape Serious Injury

Four persons escaped serious injury yesterday in two traffic mishaps which caused an estimated $1,100 total damage to the four vehicles involved.

According to state police of the local substation, an accident at 4:15 p.m. at the intersection of Yankee Bush rd. and Route 6, in Starbuck, caused minor damage to vehicles operated by Henry M. Huber, 75, of Youngsville, and Edward M. Malek, 20, of RD 1, Columbus, Pa.

The accident occurred, police said, when Malek stopped for the traffic light at the intersection, and Huber, unable to stop, crashed into the rear of the Malek vehicle. Police estimated the resulting damage at approximately $50 to each vehicle.

A second accident at 4:45 p.m. resulted in an estimated $1,000 total damage, police said, when a car operated by Ralph E. Cox, 24, of Crestview Blvd., Warren was struck by a vehicle operated by Edward Strickler, of Star Route, Irvine.

According to police the Cox vehicle was damaged to the extent of $400 while estimated damage to the Strickler machine was set at $600.

The accident occurred about 7 miles south of Warren as the Cox vehicle was attempting to make a left turn into a private driveway, police said.

Library Budget Up $8,400

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown's incoming City Council met again last night in a budget session to hear the request for the James Pendergast Free Library. Members of the library board were on hand to support their $84,284 budget, up nearly $8,400 over the 1967 appropriation.

Mayor elect, Charles B. Magnuson, informed the library board that he and the council elect have informally agreed upon a percentage across the board cut for all city departments. Magnuson cited a $10,200 cut made Wednesday night in the Jamestown Community College budget representing a six per cent reduction. The mayor elect suggested a five per cent cut for the library or about $4,700.

Answering a request on whether or not the library board has sought financial assistance from the board of education, Miles L. Lasser, library board chairman, told the council that all requests to the board of education for such funds have been rejected. Lasser said, the requests were denied because of the expansion of the library facilities in the city's schools. He noted, however, there was no noticeable reduction in the number of students using the Pendergast Library facilities.

Conarro

In 1915, he married Faye M. Morrison, who died in 1922. He was married to Eleanor Walker Russell in 1924 and had two children by this marriage, Eleanor C. Voigt and Harry W. Conarro Jr., both of Warren. His second wife preceded him in death in 1950.

He was married in 1951 to Ruby Anne Kandelast, who survives. He is also survived by six grandsons.

Mr. Conarro was a member of First Presbyterian Church of Warren, Sigma Chi fraternity, Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, Conewango Club, Conewango Valley Country Club, New York Athletic Club, Newcomer Society in North America, Pennsylvania Society, and Friars Senior Society, University of Pennsylvania. He was a director of Warren National Bank and also listed in Who's Who in America.

Mr. Conarro maintained his legal residence in Pennsylvania and he and Mrs. Conarro lived during the summer months at 305 Fourth ave., Warren. They had an apartment at 530 Park avenue, New York City and an apartment in Palma, Mallorca, Spain, at 53 Calle Calamayor.

Calling hours will not be observed. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow at First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Donald H. Spencer officiating.

It is the wish of the family that flowers be omitted and contributions made to the American Cancer Society.

Planning

director who is resigning. No decision was reached, as members thought the matter should be discussed with the county commissioners before any action was initiated.

Peterson discussed highway plans as they currently stand, saying that highway officials were reporting favorable progress on the county's most pressing needs.

He also reported that a plan for placing directional signs to the Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir has been finalized and that he would take his proposal to the county commissioners in the near future.

Peterson then presented the proposed budget for next year to cover the cost of operating the planning and zoning office. His estimate for 1968 totaled $10,683, down $9,124 from last year. This estimate, however, did not include a salary for the person who will replace him as planning director. A committee to consider the proposed budget and take it to the county commissioners for their approval was named. David Potter (chairman), Ward Sharp and Jim Frantz will serve.

Myron Ludwig, Dave Swanson and Charles Dood were appointed as a nominating committee.

U.S. Not Growing As Fast As Census Bureau Thought

N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — In view of the slowdown in growth recorded in the last three years, the United States population will not reach the 300-million mark until 1990 at the earliest.

A month ago the official estimate reached 200 million.

The Census Bureau has known for some time that the net increase in the population had dropped from a rate of one every 12 seconds to one every 14 seconds. What that meant to the future was recently calculated and announced Thursday.

The bureau, using varying assumptions, made four projections. They show that by 1990 the population may vary from 256 to 300 million.

The projections made three years ago had indicated a population of 292 million to 301 million by 1990. That is, under the most favorable growth projection made in 1964, the 300 million mark would be reached after 1985 but before 1990.

A number of factors such as the mortality rate and immigration, affects the calculations, but the most important factor is the fertility rate, meaning the number of babies borne by women between 15 and 44.

In 1956, that rate averaged 2.8 children for these women. For the population to reach 300 million by 1990, that rate would have to exceed 3.4 for each woman. For the lowest projection of 256 million, the rate would be about 2.4. In the latter case the 300 million mark would not be reached until about 2005.

In the last few years couples have apparently tended to postpone the arrival of their first-born, and are not having children in the same rapid succession as in the 1950's.

The non-white population is expected to grow from about 23.6 million in 1966 to 35.2 to 44.5 million in 1990, making up 13.7 to 14.8 per cent of the total population.

Spain Suspends Internal Gold Sales; Buys Abroad

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
MADRID — With nearly 95 per cent of her foreign holdings already in gold, Spain has suspended all internal gold sales while continuing purchases abroad.

The desire to protect her gold holdings, last reported at $784.5 million and apparent concern about local speculation and the stability of the dollar were reported to be the reasons for the new gold policy.

The Bank of Spain had no comment Thursday on the reported suspension of normal sales of gold to industrial users. But financial sources said the ban had gone into effect late last week without official explanation.

Gold cannot be sold or bought freely in Spain under standing legislation. However, a monthly quota of two tons is made available to the government to industrial users, such as jewelers.

To obtain this amount of gold without touching domestic stocks, Spain had been importing industrial gold at the rate of 11.6 tons during the first ten months of 1967.

Industry sources said, however, that prior to the suspension of the sales the government had been charging buyers a premium of 3 per cent over the world price of $35 an ounce.

They said they understood the Senate Okays Appropriations For Education

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate, meeting on the last day of this year's session, unanimously approved appropriations for the three state-related universities and other institutions. Sent to Gov. Shafer were bills to provide Penn State with $48,468,766, Pitt with $27,634,427, and Temple with $28,061,146.

They are receiving the full amounts as stipulated in Shafer's budget.

The Senate also approved a number of other appropriations for private colleges and other institutions. But they reflect a cut of about 5 per cent.

However, the two Senate floor leaders said that, should a surplus result at the end of the fiscal year in July, the legislature would seriously consider making up the 5 per cent cut.

The largest appropriation going to a non state-related school was $11,227,925 to the University of Pennsylvania.

Other appropriations which went to the governor:

— Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, $2,305,061.

government planned to resume gold sales after Jan. 1, under a new procedure requiring certificates to discourage gold speculation that apparently had developed since Spain devalued the peseta by 14.3 per cent last Nov. 18.

Financial observers here noted in this connection that Spain had been converting her foreign holdings into gold for the last two years, long before the current rush for gold developed on the international markets.

With a sharp drop in overall reserves since 1965, the paradox has arisen this year that Spain sits on nearly $800 million worth of gold, but is desperately short of actual dollar exchange.

While statistics are contradictory, the best estimate is that Spain disposes of no more than $50 million in uncommitted funds. Last January she withdrew $166 million from the international monetary fund as a stand-by credit.

Because of the unfavorable balance of payments—one of the reasons for the peseta devaluation—many financial technicians believe that Spain may soon be forced either to borrow a considerable amount of dollars against her gold holdings or begin selling some of her gold.

Overcome by Fumes

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two men died Thursday after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while working at the Wheeling Steel Corp. plant in nearby Mingo Junction.

George Fithen, 55, and Frank Means, 63, both of Mingo Junction, were working on a platform in the blast furnace department.

Fithen fell 35 feet from the platform after becoming ill.

Means was pulled down by workmates.

The two men were pronounced dead on arrival at the mill hospital here.

The 'Idea Fair' Idea

Plan to be there! Where? At the Idea Fair.

So - - - what is an Idea Fair? Simply a get-together of any and all, especially business and industrial leaders, who want to contribute to the future of Warren and Warren County by offering and discussing ideas that will in any way benefit the community.

It's a new program being introduced by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce at the suggestion of Barry Epstein, executive vice president. Invitations have been mailed out this week to those most likely to be interested in such a program; members and non-members of the Chamber as well as interested individuals. But, according to John W. Lutz, vice president, anyone with a workable idea will be welcome.

In fact, he urges members to bring along a non-member, business associate, or neighbor.

Twelve sessions have been scheduled in the hospitality room of the Northwest Savings and Loan Association, all in January. These will be pre-work meetings scheduled between 8 and 9 p. m. on the mornings of January 9, 10, 11, 12, 16, 17, 18, 19, 23, 24, 25, and 26. Some evening meetings will be arranged if they would be more convenient for those interested in the program.

A color slide program will be featured at each session.

In stating the official position of the Chamber, Dr. Julius Fino said, "Each year the board of directors makes future plans for the year ahead. But before we design our 1968 program of work, we're anxious to hear 'your' suggestions."

The Idea Fair is a great idea. It should be supported.

Speaking of Confusion

HARRISBURG — Columnist's Notebook:

IN PROPER YULE SPIRIT—When lawmakers first turned up on Capitol Hill for the week's sessions word began to spread that the legislative greats would be in session through tomorrow in order to clear up dangling affairs of state before final adjournment—the work of course of one of the more impractical practical jokers.

Denison

However some of the newer legislative bloods took the word at face value, one lawmaker meaning in anguish until the end was cleared:

"Wow — at this rate I won't be back for next year's session; I probably won't be around if I can't skeedaddle home and get at least one Christmas present for my wife after all her yowling about shopping early; sometimes I think she should come here instead of me!"

SPEAKING OF CONFUSION — If lawmakers were a bit edgy and confused this week over the possibility of remaining in session through tomorrow, it isn't difficult to imagine the confusion existing on the Democratic side in the House of Representatives when they received two letters — both dated the same day — pertaining to last week's sessions.

One letter from Minority

Caucus Chairman James Prendergast stated: "You will shortly receive a letter from the Chief Clerk (of the House) advising you that the House will convene Monday, December 11, at the usual time and immediately adjourn until Tuesday, the 12th, at one o'clock because of the conflict with the Constitutional Convention schedule."

The same day this letter was mailed from the office of House Chief Clerk Adam T. Bower to all members of that august body: "Due to a conflict with the Constitutional Convention, the House will not convene on Monday, December 11, 1967, at the designated hour of 3 p. m., except for the purpose of adjourning until Tuesday."

PRISONERS ON PAROLE — Any idea how many parolees are under the jurisdiction of Parole? The answer may — or may not — surprise you!

During the past fiscal year, according to the board, 8271 parolees were under the out-of-prison watchful eye of the board.

In the course of the year itself, 1826 inmates were released on parole and 214 on reparable by the various penal institutions in the state. In addition there were 357 special probation and parole cases, while five cases were released at the expiration of back time and 21 restored to parole supervision.

These combined figures show a total of 2423 placed under the jurisdiction of the board during the year and when this total is added to the 5848 "carryovers" at the beginning of the year, the grand total grows to 8271 parolees under jurisdiction.

"OFFICIAL" CHRISTMAS TREE — Inasmuch as there are two huge Christmas trees on Capitol Hill, it is difficult to decide which is the "official" tree. In great degree it depends on how you look at it.

Inside the domed Rotunda of the Main Capitol Building is a towering near-30-foot Norway spruce complete with tinsel, balls, decorations and colored lights.

Outside, part way down the 67 steps in front of the Main Capitol Building a giant 50-foot hemlock has been erected (hoisted by cranes into position and anchored by cables) which also has colored lights but none of the trimmings. On Monday Mrs. Shaffer, wife of the Governor, pressed the switch (officially) that lighted both trees. Generally the tree inside is regarded as the "official" tree even though it is a spruce. On the other hand, the hemlock tree itself is the "official" state tree of Pennsylvania — the tree that stands outside the Main Capitol Building. Take your choice — or you may prefer your own tree!

In the upper class, among the managers and owners of corporate industry, there has been a revolutionary change of attitude since the first appearance of big business. There has been developing a remarkable sense of obligations of power by the men who have become used to the exercise of power. The age of the robber barons and of the sweatshop capitalists has passed away and in the great modern corporate aggregations there is a new generation of managers who realize that they are part of a new form of social organization.

The old concepts of the economists and of the reformers do not fit the facts any longer. They do not describe these men who conduct enterprises which are a mixture of public and private participation and who have learned that while they must work for private profit they must serve the public welfare. This new form of economic organization has been identified by Prof. Kenneth Galbraith. We are living in an apost-capitalist and post-Marxian era. Like so many epoch-making changes in man's affairs, the new epoch has begun before the men who live with it are fully aware of it.

In their leadership and in their political organization today, neither of the two parties truly reflects and represents these momentous changes in the dominant forces of our society. But if self-government is to work through political means, one party must come to reflect and represent the realities of contemporary life. It must be in tune with what has happened since the 1930s. I do not myself think that the Democrats can do this now. For with Lyndon Johnson as President they have alienated irreparably the intellectual community and the young voters, and without them the Democratic Party does not have the brains or the energy for the task of representing the new age.

For this reason I do not think that the crucial question for 1968 is what McCarthy and Sen. Robert Kennedy do, important and interesting and significant as that may be, certainly for the future. The crucial question is whether the Republicans, who are still distraught by their ideological caper in 1964, can pull themselves together and seize an historic opportunity which is now theirs for the taking.

him, held out an engaging smile, and said: "You're Toots Short. I'm delighted that you could come. When we go to dinner, I want you to sit on my right."

Toots did, and the Cardinal talked baseball all night. Once, at a game between the Giants and the Dodgers, a foul tip hit the Cardinal and Roy Campanella tore his mask off and ran to the box. "The ball hit you," he said to the Cardinal. Spellman waved him away, laughing. "No harm," he said. "It hit me in the part I use the most, my knee."

Late at night, the Cardinal—last to bed and first up—retired to his room, turned the record player on softly to listen to an opera, and wrote in longhand on foolscap. The proceeds of all his books went to the Founding Home, less the ten percent that was earned by his agent, Gertrude Algaese.

With age and infirmity, he began to show asperity. He and his coadjutors met in the old Whitelaw Reid mansion on Madison Avenue and, in matters like the building of a new convent somewhere, he sometimes heard them vote against it, then murmured to the secretary: "We'll build it."

He was the first to introduce mass purchasing in a diocese. Originally, each pastor bought his own coal, or oil, and furniture. Cardinal Spellman instituted a central purchasing organization for all the churches, and, by buying merchandise in large lots, cut the price by at least a third.

Some of his monsignors used to refer to him as "The Eminence." He knew their jokes, and relished them. The last time I saw him, his step was still firm, but the feet lacked confidence. He walked toward his judgment knowing how right she was when she wrote: "All else is vanity."

His mother would not have appreciated the funeral. The panoply, the public exposure of his vested clay, the stereotyped expressions of grief from statesmen all over the world, would have elicited from Mrs. Spellman a frown and a negative shake of the head.

WALTER LIPPMANN

A New Coalition Is Waiting

Part Three

There are reasons for thinking that the time has come when the Roosevelt coalition is worn out and a new coalition is waiting to be formed. In some respects the situation resembles the year 1912 when the Republican coalition which had dominated American politics since the Civil War broke apart. Like the Republicans in 1912, the Democrats today are deeply divided among themselves. Mr. Wilson, who was the beneficiary of the Republican split in 1912, did not put together a durable Democratic coalition. The final Republican crack-up took place under Mr. Hoover in 1932 in the midst of the Great Depression. In the aftermath Franklin Roosevelt in the 1930s put together the Democratic coalition which has dominated American politics ever since.

Today on the eve of the 1968 election year certain things are clear. One of them is that the Democrats are split over the war and the personality of Lyndon Johnson. Another is really more significant for the future: it is that the Roosevelt coalition is worn out and no longer represents the realities of the present age. The true believer in the New Deal philosophy and program is today an old-fashioned fellow who has not kept up with the times. It is an accident that, at the time when the New Deal has become obsolete, the President in the White House should be a man whose political ideas are hand-me-downs from the New Deal. It is an accident, too, that, having vowed he would not do it, he has involved the country in a frustrating war. And it is also an accident that he is personally unlikable. Had none of these accidents happened, the outstanding fact of our time would still be that the old Roosevelt coalition is dying and that a new coalition is waiting to be formed.

There have been great changes since Mr. Roosevelt put together his coalition in the aftermath of the Great Depression. The working class is no longer struggling, as it was then, for employment and for elementary rights and privileges in bargaining about its wages and conditions of work. The affluence which the expanding American economy is producing has lifted a large part of the working class to a standard of living which has made it a part of the middle class. And this has meant that the working class which has been left behind in the main the Negroes, has little solidarity with and, in fact, has a dangerous antagonism toward those who have forged ahead.

In the upper class, among the managers and owners of corporate industry, there has been a revolutionary change of attitude since the first appearance of big business. There has been developing a remarkable sense of obligations of power by the men who have become used to the exercise of power. The age of the robber barons and of the sweatshop capitalists has passed away and in the great modern corporate aggregations there is a new generation of managers who realize that they are part of a new form of social organization.

The old concepts of the economists and of the reformers do not fit the facts any longer. They do not describe these men who conduct enterprises which are a mixture of public and private participation and who have learned that while they must work for private profit they must serve the public welfare. This new form of economic organization has been identified by Prof. Kenneth Galbraith. We are living in an apost-capitalist and post-Marxian era. Like so many epoch-making changes in man's affairs, the new epoch has begun before the men who live with it are fully aware of it.

WASHINGTON — The 90th Congress limped home last week after refusing to vote on one of the most important problems facing it and the nation—a standard of ethical conduct.

The House of Representatives had taken the historic step of expelling one of its members, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem. The Senate had taken the historic step of censuring one of its members, Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., the sixth time in history that a United States Senator has been censured.

Yet both houses of Congress ducked setting up a code of ethical conduct. In the House, Speaker McCormack appointed able Rep. Melvin Price of Illinois as chairman of the Ethics Committee, then secretly sidetracked any action.

In the Senate, Chairman John Stennis of Mississippi announced that his Ethics Committee had been too busy to act. Meanwhile there exists at least three different codes of ethical conduct as between different members of Congress and as between them and the executive branch of government.

There is one code of ethics for a Negro Congressman, such as Powell, another code for junketing white members of the Establishment such as Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C. Powell finagled airplane credit cards to take trips to the Bahamas. Rivers gets a special airplane from the Air Force when he wants to fly home to South Carolina.

Second, there is one code of ethics for security risks in the Congress, another for members of executive department. An alcoholic in the Defense or State Departments is fired automatically as a security risk. An alcoholic who is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee keeps this important post, even though he has access to highly classified security information.

The third difference in ethical standards involves the publication of personal assets. Senators voted last October not to require themselves to file their assets with the Secretary of the Senate. In contrast, President Johnson has long required all Cabinet members, all bureau chiefs, all members of commissions, all top officials, to file a record of their stocks, bonds, bank deposits, real estate holdings, all tangible wealth, with the Civil Service Commission, where it can be scrutinized periodically in case of personal profit while in office.

Johnson has been requiring this for four years, and members of the executive must file their assets every quarter.

There was a time when Attorney General Howard McGrath resigned from the Truman Cabinet in protest against such a proposal. As a result, Truman never carried it out. But Johnson, though he hasn't publicized it, has been tough in requiring all his executives to do what

JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene McCarthy's campaign debut in New Hampshire seems to have been even more unpromising than the biggest optimists in the White House had dared to hope.

The senator appeared on a university platform with one of the more extreme Negro racists, William M. Strickland, who furiously denounced the United States as a "predominantly criminal society (with) a leadership of Caligulas."

McCarthy listened to Strickland with a mild smile as his sole reaction. When his turn came, the senator scarcely bothered to answer the extraordinary attack on this country. And he delivered a "thoughtful" and academically elegant oration that wholly failed to move an audience which was longing to cheer him to the echo.

Such is the gist of the on-the-scene reporting by men who were certainly the opposite of eager to cut up Sen. McCarthy. His showing will not surprise careful students of the senatorial form sheets; but it is still mighty bad news for those who have been hoping that the senator would out President Johnson to ribbons in his planned primary contests.

For these people, moreover, there is even worse news in the recent Louis Harris Survey, showing a grim hardening in the average American's reaction to the noisy demonstrations against the war in Vietnam.

The usually reliable, always careful Harris found that the great majority had positive opinions; and of those who had views, four out of five regarded the demonstrations as "encouragement to the Communists," while three out of four characterized the demonstrations as the Senate voted not to do.

Partly because of this, perhaps, there have been no conflicts of interest in the Johnson administration. In contrast, Eisenhower was forced to accept the resignation of his Secretary of the Air Force; fired his Deputy General Services Administrator, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the chief of his Farm Home Administration and several others—all because of conflicts of interest.

One of the worst conflicts, however, involved the Eisenhower farm, where it was revealed that three oilmen, the late W. Alton Jones of Cities Service, Billy Byars of Tyler, Tex., and George E. Allen, contributed approximately $1,000 a month apiece to pay the salaries of the farm manager, assistant farm manager and farm hands.

Nevertheless, the 90th Congress adjourned without adopting any standard of ethical conduct.

Congress went home for Christmas with few bouquets and many tin cans tied to its tail. One man who deserves a bouquet, however, is Rep. John Culver, D-Iowa, whose appointment to the House Un-American Activities Committee at first was received with groans.

Civil liberties leaders wanted Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., named to fill the vacancy left by former Rep. Charles Weltner, D-Ga. After 11 months on the committee, however, young Culver not only proved his worth as a dissenter, but had such courage in leading the fight against the useless Subversive Activities Control Board that colleagues stood on the House floor to applaud him.

Said New York's Scheuer: "I really wanted that vacancy. But now I'm ready to admit that you have done a better job on the committee than I could have done. We're all proud of you." Culver, 35, a former Harvard fullback and Marine vet, also has battled to improve rural water facilities and various farm programs. He is married to the former Ann Cooper, onetime women's diving champ.

Another Congressman who deserves a bouquet for courage is Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., who once spoke up in a meeting with the President to urge that he stop bombing North Vietnam and get out. Dow's was the only voice to be heard; and he has been speaking up ever since.

"I sign every petition in Congress to take the problem to the U.N.," says the New York Democrat. "However, the United States went ahead in Vietnam without U.N. approval. I have slight faith that peace can be accomplished through these channels, since neither South nor North Vietnam nor mainland China belongs to the U.N. Escalation could occur at any minute any day and could dash our hopes and throw the world into a worse turmoil than any we have known. We must insist that this present danger does not result in catastrophe for the world."

SYLVIA PORTER

SS Benefit Boosts

If you are a retired worker now receiving the average monthly Social Security benefit of $86, the benefit check you will receive beginning March 2, 1968 will be for $98, a raise of $12.

If you are a retired couple now receiving the average monthly Social Security benefit of $145, your new benefit starting in March will be $165, a $20 a month raise.

If you are a widow now receiving the average check of $75, your new monthly check will be $86, a raise of $11.

These three examples show how the Social Security benefit raises just voted by Congress will translate into dollars for the nation's 23,700,000 retired and disabled workers; widows and dependents of all these workers.

The new benefit boost will be the biggest dollar raise in the history of our Social Security system. In 1963 alone, the raise will add $2.9 billion to the $22.3 billion in total benefits which already had been scheduled for next year. In 1969, the benefit boost voted by Congress will amount to another $3.6 billion.

The benefit increase will directly affect all individuals now on the rolls: specifically, 16,000,000 retired Americans and their dependents; 5,600,000 aged widows and widowers, aged parents of deceased workers, widowed mothers and their children; and 2,100,000 disabled workers and their dependents. Of these sharing in the increases, 7,000,000 are under age 65.

Ultimately, of course, the benefit increase will effect virtually all Americans, since 80,000,000 of us — along with our employers — now are contributing to the system to protect ourselves and our families.

This appraisal becomes even more impressive when you consider the fact that as recently as 1958 the average benefit for a retired worker was $61.25, or $34.75 less than his new benefit beginning in March. In 1958, the average aged widow's Social Security benefit amounted to $51.85, or $32.35 less than the new 1968 benefit. The result is that the new levels not only comfortably cover the 7½ to 8 per cent rise in the living costs since the last benefit increase went into effect in January 1965, but also bring overall benefits a few dollars closer to the accepted minimum living standard in the U. S. today.

The minimum is a 13 per cent boost for all beneficiaries now on the Social Security rolls. But for many, both now and especially in the future, the increases are more than double 13 per cent. For example, the retired worker now receiving the absolute minimum benefit of $44 a month is to get $55. That's a disgracefully inadequate pension but it's still a 25 per cent increase. For the younger American now aged 25, contributing the maximum Social Security tax and likely to continue contributing the maximum, the benefit boost will be as high as 30 per cent. And for the worker who will reach age 50 next year and who is paying the maximum Social Security tax, the benefit boost will work out to 22 per cent when he retires at age 65.

Here is a chart to show your new monthly benefit levels at various ages, assuming you are a worker paying the maximum Social Security taxes:

No matter whom the Republicans nominate, moreover, the Wallace candidacy will hurt them very badly.

The Republican with the least to lose to Wallace would be Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nor does the matter end there, by any means. For various practical reasons, Secretary Dean Rusk has just canceled a planned appearance at Leland Stanford University, where the more extreme local "peace" groups were busily preparing for an outburst to end all outbursts.

But short of exposing Cabinet officers to actual mayhem, it is known that the President is far from averse to the inviting outbursts of this sort in the confident and quite reasonable expectation that they will both harden and inflame the opinion in the country revealed by Louis Harris.

It can be seen, then, why the attack on the President from the left is most unlikely to cost him many votes additional to those he would never get anyway. As for the attack on Mr. Johnson from the right, it begins to appear that former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama is the best bit of luck any incumbent President has had in the donkey's years.

Bulls Lose 116-108 To Bullets

CHICAGO (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets pulled away in the final two minutes Thursday night on the strength of rookie Earl Monroe to sink the Chicago Bulls 116-108 in a ragged National Basketball Association contest.

Baltimore's victory, its 12th against 19 losses in the league's Eastern Division, was achieved despite the injury to starter Gus Johnson and illness to John Egan and Don Ohl.

The Bulls, who lost the lead late in the second quarter, were knocked off for the 14th time in 13 outings on their home court. Monroe, a 6-3 rookie, who was held to four free throws in the first half, picked up 21 marks in the second half to help send the Bulls down to their 25th loss.

The Bullets led by 11 early in the fourth quarter, 92-81, before Chicago's Keith Erickson paced a Chicago comeback. With three minutes remaining, Erickson's basket made it 105-103 Baltimore.

The Bulls had a chance to tie it, but Bob Boozer's shot missed and in rapid fire succession, Leroy Ellis, Jack Martin, Ray Scott and Monroe scored consecutive baskets to insure victory.

boards as he stands 6-7. Prior to the start of the Alumni game, the Girl's Athletic Association will challenge the Eisenhower Varsity Club in the cage sport. Also planned for the evening is a dance following the game, sponsored by the Senior Class.

Tidoute will face its Alumni head on tonight as Coach Jim Bodamer continues to juggle his starting lineup in an attempt to find the winning combination. Bodamer has added Jack Shields to his starting five after Shields' performance against Jamestown last week. Ed Ziegler will also start, as will Mark Rondinelli, Ron Carr and Max Anderson.

Alumni expected to play in the game will be Bob Bosko and Harry Hopkins from the Class of '67, Denny Shield from the Class of '66, and several other cagers of yesteryear to make up a squad of eight men.

Bosko compiled 207 points in his senior year, and Hopkins scored over 150. Shields was high scorer during the '65-66 season with a total of 252 points.

The Bulldogs dropped a tough one to Jamestown last week, but should bounce back to take the Alumni. Last year, the only win for the Orange and Black was over the Alumni.

Coach Bodamer had praise for his cagers as he spoke of last Friday's game with Jamestown. "We just made too many mistakes that only experience can iron out," Bodamer had these words to say concerning the way the team is shaping up, "I feel that as the season progresses, and we gain more experience, we should end up with a pretty decent ball club."

The preliminaries will feature two ball games. The fifth grade basketball program will play at 6:30 and then the Girls' cage team will take over sometime around 7:00. A dance will follow the Varsity game, sponsored by the Music Appreciation Club.

Members of the 1955-66 basketball team will include three of the hottest shooters ever to play for the Blue and Gold. The trio, consisting of Dave Werner, John Allenson and Jim Stanton, scored over 800 points between them during the season.

Probable players from the 1966-67 team include Bill "Mac" McFarland, Larry "Mo" Lester and Dave VanCise. VanCise was a deadly shot from the outside, while McFarland and Lester were fabulous under the boards.

Starters for the Blue and Gold varsity will be Bob Burlingame, Bob Russell, Tim Allen, Jeff Lindell and Alan Swanson. Burlingame is high scorer for the Knights, and also cleans the

Eagles Whip Providence In Tourney

BOSTON (AP)—Boston college's eighth-ranked Eagles stormed to their fifth victory in six decisions by routing Providence 88-70 Thursday night for the championship of the second annual Christmas Basketball Tournament at Boston Garden.

Capt. Jim Kissane, a 6-foot-8 sharpshooter, led the Eagles with 27 points in a foul-filled all-New England final before a small crowd of 4,827.

Providence, which had upset La Salle of Philadelphia in the tournament's first round, tried to beat BC at its own game—a fast break, race horse style.

The strategy paid off before the Eagles' over-all superiority proved decisive in the second half.

Providence had a 12-10 advantage in field goals in the first half but trailed 40-36 as the Eagles hit on 14 of 16 free throws. BC gradually increased the margin after the intermission, and Providence's last hopes faded when 6-foot-8 Tony Koski fouled out with 12 minutes remaining.

Kissane also grabbed 19 rebounds, but the tournament's most valuable player award went to sharpshooter Stu Kerzner of Providence.

Kerzner, who had 26 points against LaSalle, hit for 24 before fouling out against BC. La Salle built a commanding lead and held on for a 68-63 victory over North Carolina State in the consolation round.

Dragons Rout Strong Vincent, 40-3

A FITTING CONCLUSION

Dragon heavyweight Lee Bryan puts the pressure on Tony Freitas of Erie Strong Vincent for a second period pin, capping a 40-3 rout over the visiting Colonels last night. It was

Ike Matmen Triumph Over Pine Valley 33-19

CHERRY CREEK, N.Y. — The Eisenhower Knights claimed their second win in the Southern Tier Conference this season as they triumphed over the Pine Valley Panthers 33-19 here last night.

The Panthers fielded a small squad and forfeited three matches to the Knights. Only three pins were notched by the Blue and Gold and the other three points came on a decision.

Gary Gage (112) picked up the first pin of the evening in the opening match, after the Panthers had forfeited at 93 and 103. Gage pulled Joe Sancher to the mat in the first period with 35 seconds remaining on the clock.

The next pin for the Knights came at 1:33 when Gary Dalrymple nailed Bob Richmond. Dalrymple chalked up a takedown, and a predicament in the first period to hold a 4-0 edge over Richmond. With the Knights starting "down" in the second period, things began to move fast and the Blue and Gold grappler reversed and pinned Richmond before the second period ended.

First Place Flyers Defeat 'Stars, 6-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Flyers snapped Cesare Maniago's three-game shutout string Thursday night as the West Division leaders defeated the Minnesota North Stars 6-0 in a National Hockey League game at Ty Spectrum.

Maniago started the night with a string of 183.32 minutes of scoreless goal tending and record for four consecutive shutouts. The Flyers, however, quickly ended his dream with a goal at 5:06 of the first period.

Joe Adcock To Manage At Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Joe Adcock was named Thursday to manage the Seattle baseball team which will play next season in the Pacific Coast League and become an American League expansion team in 1969.

Mar Soriano, president of the team, announced the signing of the former major league first baseman and ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Adcock will succeed Chuck Tanner, who remained with the California Angel Organization when it sold the Seattle franchise to Soriano's group, Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc. Adcock has been replaced by Alvin Dark at Cleveland.

The Cleveland contract had a year to run and that club will pay the difference between Adcock's Coast League managerial salary and the amount of his uncompleted contract.

The only other pin the Knights captured was at 1:45 where Dave Burnett wrestled into the second period with Dave Tyler, and then downed the Panther.

At 1:20, Pete Block secured a decision over John Sancher, 5-1, to pick up the only other points for the Knights. Block collected a takedown in the first period to gain a two-point edge. In the second period, Block scored a reversal and a violation point before Sancher collected his one point on an escape.

Jefferson Wins First in Gra-Y

Jefferson won its first Gra-Y Basketball League contest, an 18-13 decision over winless Irvinedale.

Pat Hesch sparked Jeff with eight points, Steve Goodwill and Mark Tassone each scored four. Collins and Sokowski shared high-scoring honors for Irvinedale with four points and Walters hit three.

Jeff is now 1-2 in the loop.

John Miszur passed to Gary Peters, who faked Mania Maniago out of the net and then passed to Pat Hannigan. Hannigan rapped home a 10-footer for the first goal against Maniago in his last 183.38 minutes of play.

At 11:08 of the initial period, the Flyers beat the North Stars' goalie again, this time with Claude LaForge drilling a 30-foot shot past Maniago.

Philadelphia turned the game into a rout in the second period, scoring twice in a 27-second span. Forbes Kennedy slipped one in from in front of the Minnesota goal at 12:50 and at 13:17, Gary Dornhoefer rammed one by the embattled Maniago.

The Flyers kept banging away at the North Stars, who had won six of their last seven games, boosting the home team lead to 6-0 in the third period on goals by Leon Rochefort, his 10th of the season, and Lou Angotti, his sixth.

While the Flyers were unleashing their second biggest offensive of the season, goalie Bernie Parent turned in his second shutout in 17 starts.

Capture 11 Matches To Complete Sweep

By LARRY G. STEELE

Last night's wrestling match with Erie Strong Vincent proved to be little more than a good workout for Warren Area High School's matmen, who overwhelmed the visiting Colonels, 40-3.

The Dragons' third straight victory without a loss completed a sweep of the three Erie schools on the schedule.

Warren won 11 of the 12 varsity bouts, three by pins. Bob Sequist (95-pounds) started the rout with his second pin in a row, Dane Sorensen (112) put his opponent away in the first period and heavyweight Lee Bryan brought the evening to an appropriate close by stretching his opponent in the second stanza.

Winning decisions, most by big margins, for the Blue and White were Mark Williams (103), Brad Waxman (120), Steve Jones (127), Doug Sorensen (133), Jim Mead (138), Mike Maines (145), Bob Thompson (165) and Darrell Pusateri (180).

It was the third win of the season for Mead and Maines and Doug Sorensen topped his own record with his 30th straight dual match triumph.

John Sansone scored Strong Vincent's only points in the 154-pound bout, but not before Warren's Ray Lowe gave the Colonels' ace all he could handle. The Dragons took eight straight matches before Sansone edged Lowe, 2-0 and earned two more points for riding time.

It took Sequist nearly three periods to pin a stalling Chuck Sorce in the 95-pound match. Holding a solid 4-0 advantage in the third period, Sequist sunk a half-nelson to put Sorce on his back and referee Corky Latimer counted the Colonels out with just 15 seconds remaining.

Mark Williams literally man-handled Rick Snell of Strong Vincent at 103. After an early takedown had given Williams a 2-0 lead, Snell worked an escape just before the end of the first period, but the Dragon grappler rode out the middle stanza. Williams tallied a reversal in the last two minutes for a 4-1 lead and 4:30 riding time gave him a 6-1 final decision.

At 112, Dane Sorensen got too high while attempting to pin Strong Vincent's Gary Horton and found himself on his back in a flurry of scoring that left the Dragon ahead 6-5. Then another takedown was all Sorensen needed and he made sure of the fall this time with 32 seconds remaining in the first period.

Bradley Waxman, in his first appearance of the season, took the closest match of the night, a 3-2 decision over Mark Mucciarone. After a no-escape opening period, the pair traded reversals in the second stanza. Waxman scored the winning point in the third period, needing only six points for an escape.

Steve Jones romped past Abdul Mokrihi of the Colonels, 9-2, at 127. He gained a first period takedown, then ran the score to 7-2 going into the final stanza. Maintaining control for the last two minutes, Jones added 3:50 in riding time for an easy victory.

In winning his 30th straight, Doug Sorensen did everything but pin Strong Vincent's 133-pounder Jim DiSarro. A well-executed barrel roll earned the Dragon co-captain takedown points in the first period, then he rode out the second. A reversal in the third period and nearly four minutes of riding time gave Sorensen a 6-0 shutout.

Jim Mead continued to impress as he mauled Doug Orlando at 138. The Colonels grappler thwarted Mead's attempt at the first period takedown, but a quick second period reversal combined with three minutes, 45 seconds of control spelled a 4-0 victory.

At 145, Mike Maines delighted the fans and surprised Strong Vincent's Bob Brabender with a perfect barrel roll with 18 seconds left in the first period, then scored near-fall points at the buzzer. Maines completed an 8-0 rout by riding out the middle stanza, tallying an escape in the third and adding two riding time points.

With Warren in command, 29-0, Sansone spoiled the Dragons' attempt at a shutout, but not before Ray Lowe, who had more than his share of rough opponents this season, made him work for it.

Bob Thompson gave Coach Mike Weber a few anxious moments before taking a 6-1 verdict over Jim Williams of the Colonels. Down 4-2 after one period, Thompson had to rally to pull out the victory on riding time.

Strong Vincent's Bob Wagner didn't want any part of Darrell Pusateri and, by making like a turtle, managed to hold the Dragons' co-captain to an 8-0 decision. Wagner was called for stalling twice, but still refused to wrestle.

Heavyweight Lee Bryan started off strong against Tony Freitas, but got a little over-anxious and found himself in trouble and behind, 6-3, at the end of the first period. The Dragon junior handled Freitas easily in the second period, turned him on his back and secured the fall with 10 seconds showing on the clock.

Next week, the Dragons host a four-team Holiday Tournament on Thursday and Friday evenings. Jamestown, N.Y., and Kittanning, both undefeated in dual competition, along with once-beaten Curwensville will take part in the tourney.

Preliminary matches start at 8 p.m. on Thursday, with consolation matches slated for 6:45 on Friday evening and the finals immediately after.

In junior varsity action last night, the Little Colonels rallied to defeat Warren's jayvees, 30-24.

WBC's Mistake, Cassius Still The Champion

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The World Boxing Council made a mistake in its winter rankings and hasn't really withdrawn recognition from Cassius Clay as heavyweight champion, the council president said Thursday.

Luis Spota of Mexico City, president of the boxing organization, said a secretary made a mistake when she was typing the rankings earlier this week and wrote "title vacant" instead of Clay's name at the head of the heavyweight list.

The World Boxing Association withdrew its recognition of Clay as champion after he was given a five-year sentence for refusing to heed a draft call. The case is being appealed.

"It was our mistake, and we are the first to admit it," Spota said. "He is still champion as far as the WBC is concerned."

EASY, MOTHER!

High school wrestling is not exactly a quiet, spectator sport and especially not for Mrs. Phillip D. Maines of Clarendon when son Mike is competing. Packers Discuss Weather, Age, 'Fearsome Foursome'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Even the weather seemed to be favoring the Rams Thursday, but the Green Bay Packers brushed it off as they began final stages of preparation for their National Football League Western Conference championship game against Los Angeles at Milwaukee Wis., Saturday.

Whatever the weather, "we'll play freeze-out," veteran end Max McGee said.

At Milwaukee, the thermometer touched 58 Thursday, a record high for Dec. 21, but there was some evidence the weatherman would get back in touch with wintry reality by Saturday.

The forecast for game time (2 P.M. EST) Saturday was for fair skies and temperature in the 20s.

Meanwhile, several of the defending world champions, stalwarts, apparently nettled by repeated references to their age as compared to the youthful Coastal Division winners, had a

Werblin Not Happy with Tape Ruling

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League cleared the Houston Oilers Thursday of any rule violations in the celebrated television tape controversy, but the protesting owner of the New York Jets said he wasn't satisfied.

"I am demanding a lie detector test—I am not content with just an investigation," said Sonny Werblin, whose Jets face elimination from the AFL title race.

"If any coach is found to be lying in this matter, I want him expelled from professional football."

Milt Woodard, president of the AFL, issued a lengthy formal statement saying the tape used by Houston scouts in the game against San Diego last Saturday, won by Houston 24-17, only recorded the halftime show and in no way was employed for scouting purposes.

Such electronic equipment for scouting purposes is forbidden by the AFL bylaws.

The controversy was triggered by a casual remark on the part of Curt Gowdy, one of the announcers of the game for the National Broadcasting Co. During the course of the game, Gowdy remarked that Houston coaches, in an adjoining booth, were rerunning plays and sending them to the Houston bench.

It apparently was intended as an innocent comment on the change in scouting procedures.

Werblin, watching the game at home on television, immediately put in a call to Rice Stadium in Houston in an effort to reach Woodard. Unable to get Woodard, he talked to Mel Hein, supervisor of AFL officials, and demanded an investigation.

"If Woody Woodard has any guts," Werblin was quoted as saying, "he'll forfeit the game."

Later in the game, Gowdy apologized for the video tape comment and said the tape was being used only to catch the marching band at halftime.

Woodard, in his statement, said his office made a thorough examination and he found no evidence that Houston scouts had violated the rules.

He said he had sworn statements from the coaches and other staff members that the tape was used only for catching the halftime program of the Southwest Texas State College band.

The AFL president added that Gowdy himself had said he had not seen any equipment in use for scouting purposes and he had a sworn statement also from the director of the band that a tape had been ordered.

"Finally, Mel Hein, the AFL supervisor of officials who was at the game, investigated to the best of his ability these allegations and found there was no evidence of Houston scouts using this equipment for scouting purposes."

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who languished for four years on the bench at Buffalo before emerging into a star for Oakland, was named the American Football League's Most Valuable Player Thursday by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Lamonica, rated No. 1 among the AFL's signal callers, held a substantial edge in the voting over two other quarterbacks, New York's Joe Namath and San Diego's John Hadl as well as Houston cornerback Miller Farr.

A graduate of Notre Dame, Lamonica served as backup man for Jack Kemp at Buffalo until the trade last February which sent him to the Raiders. He responded with a spectacular season, leading the Raiders to their first Western Division title. His 29 touchdown passes lead the league and he has gained 3,177 yards through the air, completing 215 of 413 passes for 52.1 per cent.

"I was initially shocked at the trade," says Lamonica of the swap that sent him and receiver Glen Bass to Oakland for quarterback Tom Flores and split end Art Powell. "It was a happy, pleasant surprise."

Flores saw little action with the Bills and Powell was injured at mid-season. Bass was but by the Raiders in training camp but Lamonica emerged as a star.

"I always felt my day was coming," says Lamonica. "I knew I had to serve my apprenticeship. My ultimate goal has always been to be a No. 1 quarterback."

He was handed the job at Oakland and never let go of it. A careful planner, Lamonica prepares for each game with a ritual of sketching his game on paper.

"I draw it all out in advance," he says. "I draw a miniature football field and then set up situations on it. Let's say we're inside the 30 on a passing situation or third and one on the four. Do I go for the touchdown or try to pick up the first down and score on the next play?"

"I'll draw an offense on paper and a situation to counter-act it. It makes my game easier. You get out there, see a defense and say to yourself, 'I've been here before.' You can tell a quarterback who's prepared."

Lamonica was prepared, to say the very least, in the Raiders' first showdown game with San Diego, he passed for 362 yards and two TDs as Oakland romped 51-10.

That tagged the Chargers with their first loss and moved the Raiders into the AFL's Western lead, a spot they never relinquished.

In a late-season rematch, Lamonica annihilated the Chargers again, virtually ending San Diego's hopes in a 42-21 victory. He completed 21 of 34 for 349 yards and four touchdowns in that one.

He passed for touchdowns in all but one game this season. That was the 19-7 victory over Houston in which he completed 23 of 35 for 286 yards.

"Daryle keeps our offense going," says AFL Coach of the Year John Rauch. "He is quite a quarterback."

not trying to defend the one we've got. We didn't finish strong, but we had the division won, and it's hard not to look down the road at as big a game as this one will be."

Linebacker Ray Nitschke said, "You'll see some real inspired people Saturday."

"There has been a lot of talk about the Rams' 'Fearsome Foursome,' but I'll still take Henry Jordan and Willie Davis in a big game. They've proven themselves over the years."

"You watch our front four go in this one."

Davis, himself, said fellingingly, "I'd rather talk about this game afterward instead of before. I'm not worried about getting up—anyone who can't is in the wrong business, or has been in this business too long. I'm just worried about getting up too much."

"We've been preparing for this since July."

"The Packers will be ready," Nitschke promised. "That's been our history."

The Packers will take their final pre-game workout in Green Bay Friday morning and are scheduled to arrive in Milwaukee by mid-afternoon.

Eight Raiders Make West All-Star Team

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Daryle Lamonica and eight other players of the American Football League's Western champion Oakland Raiders were named today to the West team for the AFL All-Star game in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Jan. 21.

Lamonica, the league's leading passer, will have four of the AFL's top receivers as targets — Lance Alworth of San Diego, Mike Garrett of Kansas City, Hewitt Dixon of Oakland and Al Denson of Denver.

The top 22 West All-Stars, announced by AFL President Milt Woodard, include six each from Kansas City and San Diego and one from Denver in addition to the nine from Oakland.

Coach Lou Saban of Denver, who will coach the West, will pick an addition 11 players.

The West All-Stars:
OFFENSE
Split end—Lance Alworth, San Diego.
Tackles—Ron Mix, San Diego, and Harry Schuch, Oakland.
Guards—Walt Sweeney, San Diego, and Wayne Hawkins, Oakland.
Center—Jim Otto, Oakland.
Tight end—Fred Arbanas, Kansas City.
Quarterback—Daryle Lamonica, Oakland.
Halfback—Mike Garrett, Kansas City.
Fullback—Hewitt Dixon, Oakland.
Punter—Al Denson, Denver.

DEFENSE
Ends—Jerry Mays, Kansas City, and Bob Davidson, Oakland.
Tackles—Tom Keating, Oakland, and Buck Buchanan, Kansas City.
Middle linebacker—Dan Conners, Oakland.
Outside linebackers—Bobby Bell, Kansas City, and Larry Little, Denver.

Ex-Penn St. Star Named To Coach Boston College

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Joe Yukica, a former Penn State star who has been head coach at the University of New Hampshire for two years, jumped the Yankee Conference ranks Thursday to accept the challenge to rebuild the football fortunes at Boston College.

Yukica, 36, agreed to a three-year contract in a post-midnight conference with BC athletic director Bill Flynn, who said the college landed its top choice from among 100 candidates.

Yukica succeeds Jim Miller, who quit under alumni fire after a 4-6 season this fall. Miller, who had one year left on his contract, served as head coach six years, compiling a 34-24 record.

Yukica, who had not applied for the BR job, said three of his New Hampshire assistants, Bill Bowes, Pete Carmichael and Joe Daniels, will join him at BC. Three other assistants will be chosen later.

"The most important thing right now is to think in terms of recruiting," he said. "I think

Lee Backs Out As Iowa Coach

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Robert E. "Swede" Lee has quit as an Iowa State assistant football coach before he even started, it was announced Friday.

New coach Johnny Majors, who said last week he hired Lee as an assistant, announced Friday Lee has decided not to accept the defensive coaching post because of outside business commitments.

Lee was a successful high school coach in Arkansas and an Oklahoma assistant before going into private business a year ago.

18 Trapped Unharmed In Water Project Tunnel

GORMAN, Calif. (AP) — The roof fell in on a State Water Project tunnel Thursday. Eighteen men were trapped unharmed — and face the prospect of an unMerry Christmas in the dank heart of a snowcapped mountain.

Rescuers estimated it might take four days or more to free them.

The tunnel is 21 feet in diameter through decomposed rock in the Tehachapi Mountains, which separate northern and southern California.

Crews in two years had drilled 7,785 feet of its eventual 25,000-foot length when, at 5:30 a.m., about 80 feet collapsed some 1,450 feet from the entrance.

Communication was quickly established with the workers via an eight inch water drain pipe undamaged by the cave-in. The 18 reported they were working at the far end of the tunnel at the time of the collapse.

Rescuers, rather than try to dig through the soft collapsed material, began digging a five-by-five-foot rescue tunnel to the left of and bypassing the collapsed section.

A spokesman for the State Department of Water Resources said 13 eight-hour shifts could be required, or a little more than four days.

Rescuers hoped to speed the process by running power lines through the pipe so the trapped crewmen could use their tools and dig from their end.

The tunnel is on the north slope of the Tehachapis about 70 miles northwest of Los Angeles and a few miles east of this mountain hamlet. A paved road leads to the big hole in the side of a brushy hill, and the tunnel's bottom is paved with concrete with rails for rubble cars.

Trapped with the construction workers was an inspector for the resources department, Hank Harrison.

The tunnel is one of four under construction to bring water through the mountains from the state's wet northern areas to parched southern areas as part of a $1 billion-plus program.

Christmas will be honored this year by children of the local Sunday School presenting a program next Sunday at 2 o'clock in the community building. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Mrs. William Good was a business visitor in Olean recently.

Members of the Good Neighbor Club were present at a Christmas party and gift exchange last Wednesday. Twelve members were present. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ethel Clancy and Mrs. Emily Miller at a table beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The Auxiliary of the volunteer fire department held its December meeting on Thursday evening. A short business session was held with Mrs. Good presiding.

A report was given on the calendar project showing that after all bills were paid a profit of $613.50 was realized with a few extra calendars to be sold.

Mrs. Margaret Keach and Mrs. Emily Miller were hostesses for the social hour for this meeting.

Mrs. Grace Wolven and Mrs. Eva Ericson were in Olean on Tuesday.

William Bandy, Jr. was discharged from Bradford Hospital Wednesday following meningitis.

Kathleen Hess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hess, is a patient in Bradford Hospital.

Tommie Dixon and Billy Groves have been ill of mumps. PFC Bruce Cobb of Camp LeJeune, S. C., is expected home today for a four day furlough.

PFC James Miller is spending a furlough with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Miller.

End of Viet War Not Likely To Hurt Aerospace Industry

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — An end of the Vietnam war would not have a severe impact on the $27 billion aerospace industry, its leading spokesman said Thursday.

In his annual "State of the Industry" report, Karl G. Harr Jr., president of the Aerospace Industries Association said, in answer to a question, that the buildup for Vietnam differed from that of World War II or the Korean War.

"Unlike any other time," he said, "the nation was operating from an established, reasonably high level of military preparedness. There wasn't the need for a hurry-up mobilization from a standing start, so the original impact wasn't so great."

The largest demand has been for helicopters and fighter and attack aircraft — and this was "a negative factor because it paralleled demands for greater expansion" in other military and civilian programs, Harr said.

Consequently, "the ripples in terms of a solution to the Vietnam war are going to be much less than ever before in history and much less than people have supposed," Harr added.

He spoke at an Aviation and Space Writers Association luncheon at the Willard Hotel here.

Industry sales this year were 13 per cent higher than in 1966 and Harr predicted a 6.8 per cent increase next year to a total of $29.2 billion.

Commercial sales, which include jet transports, increased 34.6 per cent to $4.94 billion in 1967. They are expected to take another large jump to $6.6 billion in 1968, largely due to an expected $3.8 billion in sales of civilian jet airliners.

a Chinese nuclear missile attack.

The industry's profits on sales continued to decline, falling from 3 per cent in 1966 to 2.6 per cent this year. Profits on capital investment, which were not reported, are higher because the government in the past has supplied many of the plants and tools for defense work.

Shafer Doesn't Like Way Assembly Met '67 Financial Problems

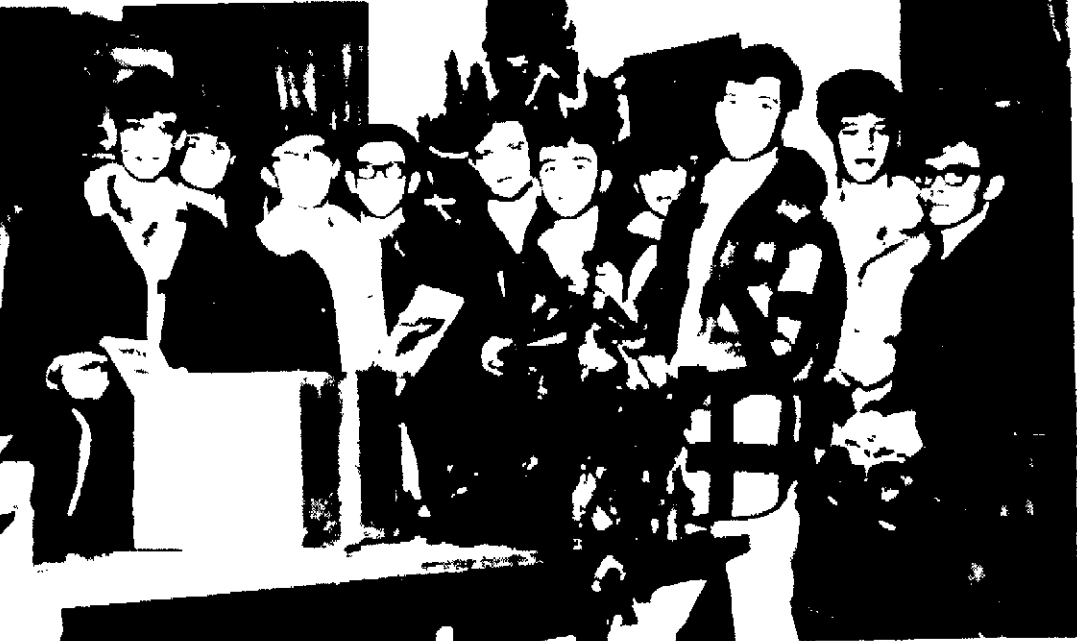

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer, indicating additional financial woes confront his administration in 1968, said Thursday he was unhappy with the manner in which the General Assembly disposed of his 1967 fiscal problems.

"I regard the fact that the General Assembly finally met its fiscal responsibility (this week) as important," Shafer said at a news conference.

"I am pleased that the fiscal responsibility has finally been met, but I am not pleased with the way they (the legislators) met it."

Referring to enactment of a bill increasing the state sales tax from 5 to 6 per cent, Shafer said:

"I know they (the Democrats) would like to have me say this is my tax. I am disappointed that we had to raise it. If the

DECORATE AT FARM COLONY

About 30 boys of the Warren Area High School Key Club, spurred by the Christmas spirit, on Wednesday joined forces to aid in decorating the main hall at the Farm Colony section of Warren State Hospital. Others not pictured had finished trimming the old dining room on the legislature had accepted my recommendations in June, there would have been no need for it."

Turning to next year's budget, Shafer commented:

"I have on my desk at this moment a great number of money requests. If they all were honored, our present tax structure would be unable to meet the demands for spending."

He refused to elaborate, however, until his annual State of the Commonwealth message Jan. 2 to the House and Senate, the day the 1968 session convenes.

"I have a general idea of what the needs are, but I don't want to go into any detail now," he said in fending off repeated inquiries on the fiscal outlook.

Reports hint at $150-to-$160 million increased spending.

After a six-month partisan deadlock on taxes, the Republican-controlled General Assembly sent Shafer only last Tuesday a supplemental $150 million tax package.

Shafer is scheduled to sign the sales tax increase into law Jan. 1. It was not part of his original package.

"Just who made the suggestion I don't know," he said when questioned on the origin of the sales tax boost.

Advised of rumblings, primarily in Southeastern Pennsylvania that court suits would be filed to stop the levy, Shafer said:

"The state will certainly contest any attempt to strike down the bill."

The news conference, which coincided with final adjournment of the General Assembly, was called to review the record of his first year as governor.

"I am personally concerned that many of our citizens do not know, understand or comprehend what has happened in Harrisburg," he lamented.

Shafer attributed this to heat generated by the half-year tax fight.

County's Share Of Tax Refund $52,591.06

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — Payment of $52,591.06 has been approved for Warren County by the State Department of Revenue as the county's share of a $10.5 million refund to counties throughout the state from liquid fuels tax collections for the six-month period ending December 1. A check in this amount has been forwarded to Warren County by State Treasurer Thomas Z. Minehart.

The department said the money must be spent by the county commissioners within the corporate limits of the county for construction, improvement and maintenance of county roads and bridges. The funds are allocated to townships and boroughs within the county at the discretion of the commissioners — not the Department of Revenue.

In June the county received $41,570.65 in liquid fuels tax refunds covering the first half of 1967. As a point of comparison with the $52,591.06 six-month payment that has just been approved and forwarded, Warren County for the comparable last half period of 1966 received $51,673.69, while for the same period in 1965 the refund amounted to $48,923.69.

The statewide allocation of $10,510,749.20 is $2,202,518.41 more than the preceding six-month period and $183,343.96 above the amount returned during the corresponding period a year ago.

Prothonotary Fees Now On Par With Larger Counties

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — Prothonotary fees in sixth class counties such as Warren County are now on a par with prothonotary fees charged in (larger) third and fourth class counties, according to a bill cleared by the Legislature and signed into law by the Governor.

For example, in Warren County after January 1, the fee for appeal from the court of common pleas to the State Supreme or Superior Court will cost $20; an acknowledgement of sheriff, treasurer or tax claim bureau deeds when not paid by the county or chargeable thereto will be $3.

Filing an assignment will cost $3, and the filing of any building agreement, waiver or stipulation will cost $7, while certifying the copy of any paper will cost $3 for the first page and $1 for each additional page. For certification of a notary public, justice of the peace or similar paper the fee will be $1.

A $15 fee is stipulated for filing charter, petition for change of corporate name or alteration or amendment of a charter for merger.

Charged with Murder

MAPLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — A woman was charged with murdering her husband Thursday while their children slept in the next room.

State police said Rosella Howard, 52, was arrested after her husband, James, 50, a coal miner, was stabbed to death during a quarrel in their home at Rt. 1, Mapletown, Green County.

WARREN TIMES-MIRROR AND OBSERVER

WARREN, PA., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1967

Legislature Ends On Time For First Time in Memory

HARRISBURG (AP) — The 1967 General Assembly of Pennsylvania adjourned at noon Thursday, ending a year-long session marked by constitutional revision and higher taxes.

The gavels fell in the Senate and House within two minutes of one another, marking the first time in the memory of veteran Capitol observers that the legislature concluded a session at the appointed hour.

Before vacating the premises, the lawmakers voted salary increases for their leaders and staff employees, and upgraded pension benefits for themselves. They also passed and sent to Gov. Shafer a batch of appropriations, including a $104 million package for the three state-related universities — Penn State, Pitt and Temple.

There was a considerable amount of unfinished business left behind, but all pending bills will be carried over to the 1968 session under a constitutional amendment approved by the voters last May.

In contrast to the past 12 months of political partisanship, peace and harmony prevailed as the session drew to a close. Just outside the legislative halls in the Capitol rotunda young carolers sang Christmas music, further adding to the solemnity of the occasion.

Gov. Shafer reviewing his first year in office, said he regretted that the prolonged debate over taxes may have obscured his administration's accomplishments.

In a year-end report, he pointed to the call of the first Constitutional Convention in 94 years and approval of seven amendments to the constitution by popular vote.

He also cited other aspects of his administration's program, the bulk of which was carried over until next year because of days lost debating a tax program that did not pass finally until this week.

"Once the smoke and fire from the tax battle are gone, Pennsylvanians whose vision have been obscured will clearly see a new Pennsylvania rising from the programs we have defended and fought so hard for," Shafer said.

The governor's principal antagonist in the legislature, House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, saw a different picture in viewing the 1967 session in retrospect.

"This session represents a total exercise in futility and is devoid of any accomplishment," Fineman told newsmen in a floor interview.

"The blame must be laid squarely on the doorstep of the governor and the Republican leadership who have failed to push the programs that are contained in the Republican platform. The only outstanding feature of the entire year was the imposition of an unwarranted and unfair tax program."

The General Assembly is scheduled to convene its 1968 session on Jan. 2, at which time it may consider a few of the carry-over Shafer proposals in position for a final vote. These include creation of a borrowing authority to float $30 million in bonds for urban mass transportation assistance and an increase in the minimum wage, plus unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation benefits.

After a week of clean-up work, when it returns Jan. 2, the legislature plans to recess until March so that the Constitutional Convention may continue to utilize the House chamber with a minimum of interference.

Holiday Recess for Con Con Will See Delegates Working

HARRISBURG (AP) — Delegates to Pennsylvania's Constitutional Convention began an 11-day holiday recess Thursday, but the hiatus won't be completely work free.

Over the holidays, the 163 delegates will be studying 60 proposals for updating the state's 93-year-old Constitution. In many instances, standing committees and subcommittees will be meeting to discuss the proposed revisions.

The convention's four major standing committees have scheduled public hearings in Harrisburg Dec. 27, 28, and 29. To date, 15 organizations or individuals have asked to testify at the hearings.

Two proposals to exempt Pennsylvania's senior citizens from local real estate taxes were among 17 introduced from the floor during Thursday's session.

Delegate Samuel D. Camardella of Philadelphia proposed that all persons over 65 be exempted from taxes on property with an assessed valuation of $10,000 or less, if they owned the property for at least 10 years before they reached 65.

A second proposal, introduced by Del. Charles E. Murray Jr. of Philadelphia, would grant local government units the optional power to exempt or reduce real estate taxes for persons over 65.

However, Del. Harold A. Thomson of Malvern, Chester County, proposed that all local tax exemptions, including those now granted to churches, be prohibited.

Thomson also introduced a proposal calling for the removal of the debt limit for local government units, currently set at 15 per cent of the assessed value of taxable property in a unit.

Three proposals, to retain the state's minor judiciary system, but reduce the number of justices of the peace and overhaul the fee system, were submitted.

Other proposals would:

- Establish family courts with jurisdiction over marriage, divorce, adoption and support cases in counties with more than 150,000 population.

- Extend state tax credits to corporations that undertake redevelopment projects.

- Remove the state government's $1 million debt limit, giving the legislature unlimited authority over specific projects.

- Eliminate the list of county officers from the Constitution, specifying that each county may draw up its own organization plan.

Physician Seeks Pa. Votes For RFK for President

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A New York physician has written to 400 former delegates and alternates from Pennsylvania to two Democratic National Conventions asking them to back Sen. Robert Kennedy, D.N.Y., for president.

He urged them to attend a meeting to rally support for Kennedy in Philadelphia next month.

Dr. Martin Shepard, a psychiatrist, sent letters Thursday to the Pennsylvania delegates and alternates to the 1960 and 1964 conventions.

Dr. Shepard, who signed the letter as co-chairman for Citizens for Kennedy in 1968, said that since Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D.Pa., would not run as a favorite son presidential candidate in Pennsylvania, "We hope to offer a meaningful alternative to LBJ."

Shepard urged the recipients of his letter to attend a session at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia at 9 a.m. Jan. 3.

"We hope you will join other former delegates and concerned Pennsylvania Democrats in this effort to change from a 'can't win' to a 'can't lose' candidate," the letter said.

JCC Professor Receives Grants Totaling $2,200

JAMESTOWN — Dr. Marvin J. Boskin, associate professor of chemistry at Jamestown Community College, has been awarded two grants totaling $2,200 from the State University of New York's Awards Committee.

Announcement was made in Albany after Awards Committee officials reviewed faculty applications from throughout the state. The annual awards are made on behalf of the State University's Research Foundation to support scholarly and creative activities.

Dr. Boskin received a $1500 Faculty Research Fellowship and a $700 Grant-in-Aid to assist his research in the chlorination of amines. Research in this area, according to Boskin, can lead to development of a new process in chemical synthesis, and become "useful to the organic chemist."

Dr. Boskin plans to conduct the major portion of his research during the summer months and plans to release his results to the "Journal of the American Chemical Society," a professional publication for chemists.

A Lakewood resident, Dr. Boskin has been with the college faculty for two years. His earlier experience included an editorship with a professional chemistry publication in Ohio and a research chemist position with a New Jersey firm.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Brooklyn College, master's degree from Indiana University, and a doctorate degree from Rutgers University.

SINCE WE HAVE BEEN HAVING TROPICAL WEATHER . . . well, it seems tropical in comparison to what Arizona has had, though it may be snowing by the time you read this, one never knows . . . I have been reading an interesting Alaska newspaper, to see what the state nearest the North Pole is doing this time of the year. The Fairbanks Daily News-Miner is the paper. I found a whole page devoted to the Sweet Adelines up there rehearsing ardently for their annual Christmas Carillon, which is their Christmas gift to the city, and temperatures of 40 below do not dim their enthusiasm. And then I read where the Alaska Dog Mushers Association is meeting to plan, no doubt, the woman's mushers race which is scheduled for New Year's Eve. Other than that they seem to be doing pretty much the things we are doing down here while waiting for Santa . . . The only difference apparently being in their type of apparel, the women, as well as men, going definitely for snuggly, warm things.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a man who:
(1) Has never been wrong in his life.
(2) Has moved 26 times in 14 years of marriage because he "likes a change of scenery."
(3) Has never sat down at the table without complaining about the food.
(4) Spends $50 for cowboy boots and raises the roof off the house when his wife buys their little girl a pair of ballet slippers for $4.95.
(5) Sneaks out of bed on Sunday morning and goes to a good restaurant for a huge breakfast all by himself.
(6) Was nowhere around when his three children were born.
(7) Walks out of his own home when his in-laws are visiting because they don't agree with him on the war in Vietnam.
(8) Chews hard candy or potato chips when he telephones his mother because he knows the crunching drives her crazy.
It sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Well, the man is my husband. Although I am not a very good writer, I am a smart woman. Yet I can't figure out what the clod is trying to prove. I hope you will print this letter. Maybe if he sees how he looks in the newspaper he will straighten up and fly right. — BATTLE FATIGUE

DEAR BAT: Don't expect miracles, Lady. I'm printing your letter for other wives who write. Your husband will make their husbands look good.
In the meantime, how come a smart woman like you picked such a clunker?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is getting married next month and we have had so many arguments that I'm ready to buy her a ladder and tell her to elope.
Now she has decided to wear white gloves with her wedding gown because she saw it in a movie. She does not remember what the bride did when the groom put the ring on her finger. She says he must have put the ring on over the glove. This does not sound right to me. Please give us your opinion. — ROUND SIX

DEAR ROUND: A wedding ring over a glove makes no sense. If your daughter wants to wear gloves, she should remove them when she reaches the altar.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Holy Redeemer Cub Scouts Have Yule Party

The Cub Scouts from Pack No. 10, Holy Redeemer Church, enjoyed a fine Christmas party at the Holy Redeemer social rooms on Wednesday evening. In addition to Santa Claus who presented gifts to boys and girls, there was a magic show put on by Don "Mysterious" Nelson, who kept everyone on the alert with his tricks and showmanship.

Awards were presented to the following Cubs by Cubmaster Roger Skiff and Assistant Cubmaster Wood:

Den Mother Mundt's Den 1—Danny Berdine, Denner, Ronnie Sealise, Bear; Den Mother Christie's Den 2—Richard Skiff, Denner; Den Mother Wood's Den 3—Roger Shisner Jr., Denner; Den Mother Brooker's Den 4—Wade Thompson, Denner, Brian Brooker, Bear, Timmy Hammersly, Wolf, Dennis Mong, Bobcat, Timmy Johnson Jr., Bobcat; Den Father Christie's Den 5 (Webelos)—Mike Christie, Denner and Tom Johnson, Recruiter Badge.

Refreshments were served after the awards and entertainment.

WOTM Holds Initiation Ceremonies at Meeting

Senior Regent Joyce Bell presided at the business portion of the recent meeting of WOTM at which the ceremonies of initiation were held.

Notification was received that the Gold Bible would be sent to the Chapter with special instructions for a "program of presentation" to be followed on the occasion. The chapter Award of Achievement for the Golden Anniversary Year 1966-1967 has already been received by the chapter.

The Loyal Order of the Moose Lodge No. 109 will have its annual Christmas party for the children of Moose members at 12:30 p. m. Saturday, December 23, on the second floor of the Moose Lodge. All WOTM members are to contribute home baked cookies, and their help will be appreciated at the annual event.

The annual Christmas dinner for the WOTM was held at the Penn Laurel last week. Gifts were exchanged and the usual games and fun enjoyed. On Monday of this week, the Academy of Friendship held its annual Christmas dinner at the Lodge home. Gertrude Gleason roasted the turkey. There was an exchange of gifts and secret pals for the preceding year revealed while names for the new year were drawn. Games were played later in the evening.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, December 27, at the Moose Lodge. On Thursday, December 28, Vera Petrowski will be hostess for a baby shower for Mrs. Helen Crawford at 8 o'clock at the Moose Lodge. All members are invited.

Linda Jane Bull is Bride Of David Robert Krespan

Linda Jane Bull and David Robert Krespan exchanged wedding vows in the First Methodist Church, Jamestown, N. Y., on Saturday, December 16, at a 1:30 afternoon nuptial service. The Rev. Raymond Ridsen, pastor, officiated in the presence of approximately three hundred guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bull of 133 Brad street, Jamestown, N. Y., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Krespan of 307 Water street, Warren.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Clession Peck, organist, and soloist Eleanor Forsberg. Church decorations included two ten-foot Christmas trees with gold and white ornaments; red poinsettias; and hurricane candelabra with holly boughs marked the family pews.

Escorted by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of white Chantilly with scalloped neckline, natural waistline and long sleeves ending in wedding points. The hemline of the skirt was in scallops to match the neckline. She wore a pillbox of lace from which depended a lace mantilla with double panels terminating in a chapel train. She carried white roses centered with a detachable white orchid. Holly boughs were entwined in the bouquet. She carried also an heirloom sterling silver spoon belonging to her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson of 518 Buchanan street, Warren, and a gold pin of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Bull.

The bride's only jewelry, the gift of the groom, was a matched set of carved ivory earrings and pendant.

The maid of honor, Miss Jacqueline Bull, sister of the bride, was in Fiesta red quilted brocade and white fur pillbox hat with matching muff to which was pinned green carnations and holly boughs. Costumed similarly but with red carnations and holly boughs were the bridesmaids Miss Karen Markell of Arlington, Va., Miss Barbara Lorenc of Jamestown, N. Y., Miss Stephanie Mikowicz of Salamanca, N. Y., a cousin of the groom.

The best man for his brother was Peter Krespan of Warren, and ushers were William Dodds of Warren, Phillip Stasewski of Erie, Charles Bull of Jamestown, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a two-piece dress of gold satin and velvet to which was pinned a green orchid. The mother of the groom wore a pink dress and had a pink orchid corsage. Also remembered with corsages, one of red velvet roses, and one of pink velvet roses, were the grandmothers of the bride; her grandfather received a boutonniere. Corsages of white carnations were worn by Mrs. Otania Anderson, great-aunt, and Mrs. Faye Brown, great-aunt of the bride.

The reception, attended by three hundred, was held in the Lakewood Village Hall, Lakewood, N. Y. Decorations were carried out in a Christmas theme. Centering the bride's table was an arrangement of white Poinsettias and holly. Holly boughs also decorated the wedding cake. Aides, Mrs. Roy C. Rounds, Mrs. William Cannan, Mrs. David Holt, Mrs. James Mulhaupt, Mrs. Gail Platt, Miss Priscilla Cushman, were presented Christmas corsages and Christmas aprons made by the bride's sister, and rice packets, prepared by the cousins of the bride, the Misses Kathy and Karen Nelson of Titusville, were given to each guest. Mr. and Mrs. Gunnard Enlund of Jamestown were the master and mistress of ceremonies.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the parents of the groom, was held at the Colonial Gardens Restaurant. Prenuptial parties were hosted by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frank Nelson; the bridal attendants; Mrs. Peter Krespan and Mrs. James Krespan; and also by Mrs. Hazel Bull, her grandmother, and Mrs. Leona Olson, Miss Fanchon Olson.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER T. HOVER

Golden Anniversary

More than one hundred eighty guests attended the open house in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Hover at the family home in Barnes, Sunday, December 17, 1967, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand R. Hover of Townville, Pa., and Mrs. Harry Danielson of Clearwater, Florida, were hosts.

Bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums banded each side of a four-tiered wedding cake, which was cut by Mrs. Danielson and Mrs. Bertrand Hover. Mrs. Roy Barnes of Erie, Mrs. Harold Armistage of Corry, Mrs. A. L. Barr of Oil City and Mrs. Robert Slingluff of Townville poured. Mrs. Donald MacMartin kept the guest book, and Mrs. James Wilson, presided at the punch bowl.

Guests attended from Townville, Spartansburg, Corry, Centerville, Titusville, Warren, Erie, Saegertown, Oil City, Pleasantville, Rimbersburg, Clarendon, Sheffield and Barnes, Pennsylvania, and Jamestown, N. Y.

KATHY KROH

Is Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Kroh of New Bethlehem RD 3, Penna., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathy, to Carl R. Pasquarette Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pasquarette of Warren.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Clarion-Limestone High School, and is attending Seton Hill College, Greensburg. She will graduate in May with a Bachelor's degree in Music Education. Her fiancé a Warren Area High School graduate, is pursuing studies at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Penna. The wedding date remains to be announced.

If a Christmas card is engraved with the sender's names, with "Mr. and Mrs.," should these be at the top or bottom of the card?

Always at the top. Otherwise they might seem like a signature.

No Will; Maybe a Lawsuit

"What me make a will? I haven't got more than a couple of hundred dollars in the bank!" It's a fairly common comment.

But, the Institute of Life Insurance points out that most people have a lot more in assets than they think: a home, a car, furniture, art objects, jewelry — all cost money and have tangible value. Families sometimes overlook, too, the values they have built up in their life insurance programs.

THE GIRLS

"I think anybody who would go out in the evening and do THAT with money, doesn't deserve to have any!"

Central WCTU European Pianist To Appear

The Central WCTU met for the December meeting in Dunham Parlors of First Methodist Church. Hostesses for the Christmas tea were Mrs. Anne Shute, Mrs. Alberta Trauffer, Florence Young and Mrs. Arthur Carlson.

For devotions Mrs. William Muir stressed "Growing in Christlikeness"; a solo "Fill Me With Thy Spirit" was sung by Mrs. Ruth Lindquist, accompanied by Mrs. Philip Maines. Margaret Douglas presented "Dedication to a Cause".

Former members Mrs. Francis Hetrick from Pittsburgh and Mrs. Jessie Johnson from California sent greetings to the union.

The president, Mrs. Alberta Trauffer, asked for reports from Mrs. Goldie Brownell, secretary, and Miss Nellie McMinch. Mrs. Alice Fox reported on the Flower Fund and shut-ins; treasurer Mrs. Brownell offered to pack box to be sent to Pennsylvania Training School.

It was voted to give the church $10 for use of room for meetings.

The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Philip Maines and the closing prayer by Mrs. Leon Lewis.

Here's Why of 'Xmas' Spelling

Why is "Christmas" sometimes written "Xmas"?

"X" is the Greek letter symbol that is used to represent the name, "Christ."

This symbol has been discovered by many archaeological expeditions on the walls of early-Christian period catacombs.

Quite recently, a group of scientists discovered the name of Jesus, carved before 70 A.D., among the inscriptions on eleven early Christian urns.

These urns were uncovered in a cave on the Bethlehem to Jerusalem Road.

It is believed that these writings were left by a sect of Hebrews who were followers of Christ and who had denounced Pontius Pilate.

Professor Detlef Kraus, German concert pianist, sponsored by the Philomel Club of Warren, will appear in recital at Besty auditorium on Wednesday evening, January 10, at 8:00 o'clock.

After making his debut in his native city of Hamburg at the age of 16, Kraus spent the next several years in Berlin as a student of the famous master courses of the renowned pianist - teacher, Wilhelm Kempff.

With his appearance at 18 in Potsdam, where he caused a sensation in his playing of Beethoven, Kempff, his former teacher, said of Kraus, "today there are innumerable talented pianists, but few individually outstanding; Detlef Kraus, however, is one."

Following the tradition of other great interpreters of Beethoven, Kraus undertook a study of Beethoven's complete works. He toured Europe and presented Beethoven's 32 sonatas in seven concerts.

Another of the outstanding accomplishments of Professor Kraus is his interpretation of Brahms. After performing the Brahms cycle in Belgium, England, Holland, and Germany, this season he will present this unusual rendition of Brahms in the city of Pittsburgh. However, his repertoire is not limited to Beethoven and Brahms, but includes Debussy, Mozart, Schumann, Chopin, and Schubert and a wealth of other works by lesser-known and modern composers.

Tickets for this outstanding recital are available from any one of the Philomel Club ticket committee which includes Mrs. James Springer, 16 Franklin street; Mrs. William E. Yeager Jr., 4 Hill street; Mrs. Lewis Conroy, 117 Water street; Mrs. Henry Bailey, 10 Pioneer street; Mrs. Robert Trusler, 209 Market street; and Mrs. Doris Betts, 395 Buchanan street. Proceeds from this concert will help to augment the scholarship fund.

Members of the general committee, composed of Mrs. Charles Tranter, Mrs. Jacob Levinson, Mrs. Charles Eaton, and Mrs. Francis Ericsson, have arranged with Professor Kraus to hold a lecture demonstration at Warren Area High School auditorium at ten o'clock, on the morning of January 10, watch members of the Philomel Club and interested Warren County students may attend free of charge.

Still Room in College?

Just how tough is it for those youngsters in your family to get into college?

Here's one authority's opinion: "In essence, the applicant must have a good secondary school record, be in the upper segment of his or her class, say the top 20 per cent, and get good marks on the College Board tests."

Here's another's: "A wooden Indian could get into college this year."

Which authority is right? Probably both of them, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, after sampling the opinions of a number of college officials throughout the country.

An Ivy League school like Harvard, Yale, Brown or Princeton, will have high academic requirements. A less exclusive institution may welcome the student of average attainment.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.
East's double of South's six diamond contract is conventional and calls for the lead of dummy's first bid suit—clubs. With great length in North's suit and no outside honor strength, however, his action appears to be highly speculative.

West opened the ten of clubs, which was covered by North's queen and East's king and ruffed by declarer. A trump was led over to the queen and the three was returned to the ten. West discarding a heart on the second round.

When he learned that East had as many diamonds now as he did, South abandoned that suit and turned his attention to the spades. He cashed the ace on which East followed with the jack. Declarer was reluctant to have one of his honors ruffed away, so he decided to lead the suit from the dummy's next.

A small heart was led and North's queen was finessed. A spade was returned and East discarded a club, allowing South to win the trick with the king. A small spade was ruffed with the king of diamonds to establish the suit; however, declarer could not get off dummy without forcing himself to ruff and reduce his trump holding below East's size.

South lost control of the proceedings and he ended up with 10 tricks on the deal. Careful technique would have salvaged the contract. East's double should have alerted declarer that adverse distribution was in the offing.

Inasmuch as the diamond suit is the only direct means of communication to the closed hand, he should defer drawing trump until he has tested his side suits. If he cashes one high spade at trick two, the appearance of East's jack will provide ample warning. The dummy may now be entered with the queen of diamonds to return a small spade and East is rendered helpless.

If he ruffs in, it will be his only trick, for South's side suit is established and, after trumps are drawn, declarer eventually takes the heart finesse to score his 12th trick. If East discards on the second spade, South puts up the king, ruffs a spade with the king of diamonds and returns to his hand with the three of diamonds to draw trumps and cash out for 12 tricks without having to play for the king of hearts outside.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—The position of Mars indicates an extremely active day. Things should move along briskly, and you with them. But don't scatter your energies. Concentrate on the truly worthwhile.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—New methods and policies initiated in sensible accordance with requirements should go over well now. Be conscientious about holding to your end of a bargain.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Consider all propositions carefully to determine whether they are really worthwhile—and advisable at this time. In any case, don't be guided by your emotions or let your sympathies affect your decisions.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Whatever you must do, do it with a feeling of pride and confidence. Be your natural, cheerful self, aiding others as you go along your capable way.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Your know-how and ability to handle the unexpected could result in outstanding advantages. Spend time and talents constructively. This day will be rich in opportunity.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Check spur-of-the-moment comments, action. You could step into trouble through heedless tactics. With diplomacy and good judgment, however, you should have a good day.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Make no changes in matters now running smoothly, but keep looking, nevertheless, toward areas in which there could be "standstills." Some of your good but rather nebulous ideas should shape up more clearly now.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—Not much planetary help here, so matters are left largely in your own hands. Whether the day proves exciting or dull is up to YOU!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Don't depend solely upon intuition or past performances. Gather all the pertinent information possible about your work, other activities. Give heed to the viewpoint of others.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Does time seem to be working against you? Don't worry. Actually, it is the forward-looking person who constantly thinks of all he MUST do. The others don't care.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—You may encounter some opposition, unexpected obstacles in your path. But this should never floor the well-developed Aquarian. Take all in stride, keep plugging in your competent manner, and the day will wind up satisfactorily.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—A day for action! Don't slow up progress by being over-meticulous, fussy, looking for non-existent defects in your program.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely intelligent and ambitious; always striving for lofty goals and usually attaining them in out-of-the-ordinary fashion. You have the ability to hurdle all obstacles, overcome difficult situations and rise above even the humblest of beginnings. You are inclined toward intellectual and artistic pursuits, have a warm-hearted personality and are extremely sensitive to the needs of others. Gregarious of nature, you make friends easily, love travel and gay social functions, but you are inclined to over-tax yourself, expending excess energies. Learn to relax! Birthdate of: Deems Taylor, composer, music critic.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TATTOO REMOVAL WITH LASER RAYS
Why do so many persons allow themselves to be tattooed? This is difficult to answer because such decorations are not socially accepted, except among navy men. Criminals, drug addicts, and psychopathic personalities consider the "art" emblematic of belonging to groups who are sympathetic to persons with behavior problems.

An unusual example of "joining the group" occurred in many cities in the United States and Canada when Richard Speer's infamous motto, "Born to Raise Hell," became known. There was a rush to acquire a tattoo similar to that displayed by the convicted murderer of eight Chicago nurses.

Viet Nam casualties have provided an increasing number of different types of tattoo problems. These are war injuries with tattooing from dirt and metal fragments caused by grenades or land mine explosions. Plastic surgery techniques are being used to remove the particles or to camouflage the area.

In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Leon Goldman and his group from the University of Cincinnati reported their experiences with laser beams in removing unwanted tattoos. Several types of rays were used on 116 persons. Goldman confined his study to 12 patients who were treated from six months to three years ago.

Tattoo removal with lasers is a safe procedure that rarely requires an anesthetic. These rays cause localized vaporization of dye particles which are then expelled from the skin in gaseous form. Damage to, and scarring of, normal skin is minimal because the epidermis is relatively resistant to these beams.

The main objection to this experimental remedy is that only small areas can be treated at one time. Technical advancements will undoubtedly make it possible to erase large disfiguring areas via this method.

TOMORROW: Germ Murder.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

EXERCISE PAIN IN NAVAL.
M.E. writes: I have a flabby abdomen and decided to do exercises to tone up my muscles. But when I start exercising, my navel hurts. Could you tell me why?

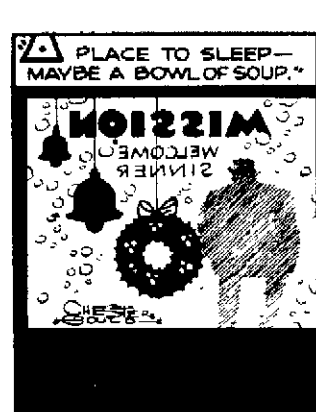

REPLY
Keep it up until the muscles and fibrous tissues surrounding the navel become accustomed to the exercise. An athlete never would get anywhere if he quit the first time his muscles got stiff and sore. I assume you do not have a hernia or infection of the navel.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—Stairs should have firm handrails.

THE NUTCRACKER, Tchaikovsky's celebrated ballet, will be performed at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10, by some of the world's most acclaimed dancers, including Edward Villella, Melissa Hayden and Patricia McBride. Franz Allers will conduct the Philharmonic Orchestra of Budapest and Eddie Albert is host-narrator for the colorful holiday special that was filmed in Munich, Germany.

TARZAN at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 guest stars James Whitmore and Anne Jeffreys in "Tiger, Tiger." Despite reports of a killer tiger in the area, a stubborn engineer tries to force natives to help in his irrigation project.

STAR TREK at 8:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 presents "Wolf in the Fold," in which an Enterprise crew member, recovering from an injury on the planet Argelius II, becomes the prime suspect in a series of Jack-the-Ripper-type murders.

CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35 and 10 screens the gripping story of 28 East Germans who escape through a tunnel under the Berlin Wall in "Escape From East Berlin." In the east are Don Murray, Christine Kaufmann, Karl Schell and Werner Klemperer.

ALAMEIN: A MONTY MEMOIR is an NBC News special at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12. It documents the battle in 1942 between the Eighth Army of Great Britain and the German Africa Corps at El Alamein in the North African desert. The program includes a profile of Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery who commanded the Eighth Army, a reminiscence of the battle by the Field Marshal himself and coverage of a reunion of El Alamein survivors held last fall in London.

Christmas Eve Service Sunday

The congregations of First Methodist and United Presbyterian churches will hold a Christmas Eve communion service at First Methodist Church Sunday, Dec. 24, at 11 p.m. The community is invited to join in this worship service.

Congregational hymns will be "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," and "Joy to the World." The anthem, "The Song That the Angels Sang," will be presented by the combined Methodist and Presbyterian choirs, and there will be a special vocal number.

The responsive reading will be the scripture passage, "The Magnificat," Mary's song of joy which begins with the words "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord." The scripture reading will be Luke 2:1-14.

The Rev. George Campbell, Methodist pastor, will bring the Christmas message titled "He's Lonely Still." This will be followed by the sacrament of Holy Communion. Communion in the Methodist Church is an open communion for all who will partake of it.

Communion offering envelopes will be distributed by the two churches Sunday morning to their respective parishioners to be placed on the altar at the time of communion, and loose offerings will be divided between the two churches.

In the event that the 11 p.m. hour is too late for some, they are invited to attend the 7 p.m. Christmas Eve service in the East Hickory Methodist Church.

Circle Three Has Christmas Party

Mrs. Maurice McCarthy entertained members of Circle Three of the Methodist WSCS at her home Wednesday for a Christmas party. The ladies exchanged gifts and Mrs. Ray McManigle read the Nativity Story from St. Luke 2.

Theme for devotions was "Christmas Over shadows Things on Earth." The circle prayer was used in closing.

Plans were made for refreshments to be served by Circle Three at the January 2 WSCS meeting. A gift was presented to the parsonage family for Christmas and stamps were collected for the Meadville Home for the Aged.

Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour. Mrs. William Karns will be hostess for the next meeting, on January 10.

Santa Claus Visits Tonight

Santa Claus will make his annual pre-Christmas visit to Tidioute tonight and youngsters of the area are invited to meet him at the Vets building at 7:30 p.m.

The VFW and its auxiliary extended their yearly invitation to Santa and he accepted with his usual jolly good nature. Children will have a last chance to tell him what they want for Christmas and he will give each a treat.

Key Club Will Collect Trees

Members of Tidioute high school Key Club will be collecting discarded Christmas trees on Saturday, Jan. 6. Persons are requested to place their trees where they can be seen from the road or street to enable the boys to make the pickup easier.

The trees will be piled on the ball field and burned at a pep rally at 6:15 p.m. on January 9, prior to the basketball game here with Northern Area. Cheerleaders and the school band will be on hand to lead the rally and encourage the Bulldogs in their battle with the Northern Area Knights.

The Key Club extends appreciation to all who donated used toys for needy children at Christmas time.

Fortnightly Has Christmas Party

Twenty-five members of Tidioute Fortnightly Club enjoyed the annual Christmas party Monday night, held at Collage Inn in Pleasantville. The hospitality committee presented each one with a corsage of holly.

The yearbook committee, headed by Mrs. Thomas Walsh and Mrs. Paul Craft, introduced a choral group of nine senior high school girls who presented a program of Christmas carols. They included Karyl Morrison, Christine McGraw, Judy Yucha, Judy McGuire, Carol Nuttall, Kathy King, Sally Ziegler, Cindy Kunkle and Sharon Rasimovicz. Mrs. Hugh McGraw read the Christmas Story from the Gospel of St. Luke.

Tidioute Calendar

BASKETBALL - Alumni-Varsity game tonight, Dec. 22. TIDIOUTE GARDEN CLUB meets Tuesday, Dec. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian church parlors. The program will consist of travel and garden films. Hostesses will be Mrs. Urban Roza, Mrs. R. L. Thomas, Mrs. Keith Wolford and Mrs. Russell Johnson.

TIDIOUTE FIREMEN will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, Dec. 26, at the fire hall.

SOUTHWEST WARREN COUNTY MUNICIPAL AUTHORITY will meet in the council chambers on Wednesday, Dec. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Bucktails Keep Same Officers

At their recent meeting the Tidioute Bucktails re-elected the incumbent officers for another term. They are: president, Bud McGraw; vice president, Paul Thomas; secretary-treasurer, Richard Knight.

Also retained for another term were the trustees, Gordon Downey, James Latimer, Paul Thomas, Richard Knight, Hugh McGraw and Gerald Miller. President McGraw will appoint the standing committees at the January meeting. Construction of a clubhouse and further improvement of the trap and rifle ranges are projects on the agenda for next year.

AREA NEWS AND EVENTS: Miss Sue Reagle, who is a student at Indiana University in Indiana, Pa., is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reagle and family. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reagle, Sue and Amy and Glen Collins of Youngsville visited Mr. Reagle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Reagle and Mrs. Reagle's mother, Mrs. Daisy Boswell of Franklin on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briggs and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jordan and family attended an early Christmas gathering of the family of Mrs. Emory Jordan held at the Community Building in Pittsfield on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvan Ayling attended the Christmas program presented by the Sunday School of the Presbyterian church in Sugar Grove on Sunday evening. Their grandchildren Daniel and Diane Pudder took part in the program.

The Christmas meeting of the Lottsville Home Extension group was held at the home of Mrs. Elvan Ayling with eleven members attending. The members worked on baskets. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in January at the church. Mrs. Ayling was assisted by other members in serving refreshments.

The annual Christmas family dinner of the Lottsville Methodist church was held at the church Sunday afternoon with about forty persons attending. The group sang the Doxology preceding the dinner.

Following the dinner a short program was given with Mrs. Robert Scott in charge. The group sang several songs, Mrs. Scott read a poem and a reading was given by Harold Malley. Mrs. Helen Johnson read a Prayer. The group then sang, "God be With You Till We Meet Again". Mrs. Scott closed the program with a short reading.

Mrs. Robert Scott was general chairman, Mrs. Elvan Ayling and Mrs. Marvin Johnson decorated the tables in keeping with Christmas.

Kitchen committee members were: Mrs. Susie Hamilton, Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. Helen Johnson and Miss Margaret Clark. Carol Scott was pianist for group singing.

The Christmas program of the Lottsville Methodist Sunday School will be held at the church on Saturday evening, Dec. 23, at 7:30 o'clock. Santa Claus will make a visit and the children will be presented a treat.

Congressional Candidates Begin Scramble for $$$

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional candidates have begun the big scramble for the millions of dollars needed to finance the 1968 campaign which undoubtedly will be the most expensive in history.

Some senators facing re-election figure their campaign costs have doubled or even quadrupled in six years.

And party fund-raisers, as well as candidates, picture the competition for the contributor's dollar as intense.

So many hands—including those of unofficial and splinter groups—are reaching for the pot that "it's beginning to hurt," says Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Rescue Teams Press Toward Navajo Indians

WINDOW ROCK, ARIZ. (AP) — Rescue teams, encouraged by clear weather, pressed deep into the Navajo Reservation Thursday with food, medical supplies and fuel for Indians cut off from the outside world by snow storms for nine days.

A five-truck convoy, carrying medicine, food, coal, wood and kindling, and hay was sent from Window Rock, tribal capital, to Tuba City, 134 miles west.

A road grader moved out in front of the convoy to clear snow drifts and open the snow-packed road.

In the convoy was a truck with jet fuel for helicopter, that are to make food airlifts out of Tuba City, one of the more isolated population centers on the reservation.

Tribal officials said the area has been so isolated, little was known about the condition of Indians in the region.

Navajo Police Supt. Allen Adams said about 5,000 people live within a 25-mile radius of Tuba City.

Rescue units moved 4,000 gallons of propane gas to Tuba City Wednesday night and another truck with 4,000 gallons left Thursday. Tuba City reported its fuel supply was down to 2 percent of capacity.

Allen said that as rescue teams reach the more remote homes and settlements police expect to hear about more cases of illness. Three deaths related to the storm were confirmed earlier.

"The thing that is serious to me is the unknown deaths or illnesses," Adams said. He said there might be people dead in the isolated "casas"—the log and mud dwellings of the Navajos—but because of the Navajos' superstition about death, have not been reported.

He said there probably are cases where a Navajo has started out from his home to walk miles for help through the snow and freezing weather, but never made it.

Tension Increases In Jordan

(c) N.Y. Times News Service JERUSALEM — Israeli military authorities announced Thursday night that they had broken a major terrorist network with the arrest over the past week of 56 West Bank Arabs.

Two Arab suspects were killed in the roundup, which focused on Jenin, Nablus and Jerusalem and ranged from hideouts in caves to the homes of Arab notables.

The deaths occurred in a clash with Arabs traced to a cave in the upper Beit Horon area near Latrun. Three Arabs were wounded in the shooting.

The Israeli army spokesman said that the roundup had broken a reorganization of sabotage networks and bases that had been highly publicized by the radio station of the Nationalistic Palestine Liberation Organization.

According to the Israeli account, the roundup began last Friday in a suburb of Ramallah, near Jerusalem, with the arrest of five persons. Ramallah had been a center of anti-occupation incitement.

The arrests continued as the Israeli security forces, border police and civil police acted on information. Thirty of the alleged saboteurs were arrested in the Nablus and Jenin areas and 26 in the Jerusalem-Ramallah area.

Kamal Nasser, a poet and leftist who had openly campaigned against Israeli occupation of the Jordanian West Bank, was deported to Jordan Thursday. He had been picked up Wednesday after having evaded a roundup in Ramallah. Ibrahim Bager, another leftist, was seized in the roundup and deported a few hours later.

Hanoi Radio Details Ways To Defeat American Troops

(c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON — United States officials are studying a broad-cast by a North Vietnamese military leader that details the methods of defeating American troops through "surprise", "taking the initiative" and "annihilating attacks."

The broadcast, described by one Army official Thursday as "blunt and quite objective" was made on Nov. 29 over Hanoi Radio. The lengthy transcript is still being studied for possible clues into the military tactics and thinking of North Vietnam.

The broadcast was made by Brig. Gen. Vuong Thua Vu, who is listed in American documents as the political commissar of the anti-aircraft and air force command in Hanoi. He is also listed as the commander of the right bank military region headquarters at Nam Dinh.

Throughout the broadcast, Vu paid curious and almost grudging compliments to the American troops and their weapons. The Americans, he said, are a "cowardly but aggressive army...are equipped with abundant planes, artillery guns and armored vehicles...are provided with many mobile means and helicopters...possess much more modern aircraft (than the French) and large quantities of bombs and ammunition."

"The Americans' method of deploying troops to defend a strongpoint or a group of strongpoints is different from that of the French," he went on. "This difference has caused us to change our fighting methods." One difference, Vu indicated, was that the French were "entrenched in fortifications" while the Americans are usually mobile.

"During the resistance against the French," he added, "we usually resorted to...of thwarting the initiative of U.S. troops and, at the same time, gaining the upper hand. 'The loss of initiative means the beginning of failure,' he said.

"we usually resorted to...of thwarting the initiative of U.S. troops and, at the same time, gaining the upper hand. 'The loss of initiative means the beginning of failure,' he said.

In the current war, such "methods" are somewhat unfeasible to the North Vietnamese, apparently because of the hit and run style of fighting as well as the rare number of battles that last more than a few days.

In his broadcast, Vu repeatedly emphasized methods of thwarting the initiative of U.S. troops and, at the same time, gaining the upper hand. "The loss of initiative means the beginning of failure," he said.

Last Month For Medicare Beneficiaries to File

December is the last month to file a claim for reimbursement of medical expenses incurred in 1966 by Medicare beneficiaries. This timely reminder is issued by Lewis Epstein, district manager of the Jamestown social security office.

If you are a Medicare beneficiary and had medical expenses of more than $50 in the period July 1, 1966 to December 31, 1966, you should claim reimbursement by sending claim form 1490 with your receipted bills to the Medicare carrier for your area. The claim form and the carrier's address are contained in the Medicare Handbook given to everyone enrolled in the medical insurance plan. The Jamestown social security office will assist in making claim for reimbursement, for medical expenses in 1966 or 1967. However, this month is the last month you can submit a claim for 1966 expenses, according to present law.

Medical expenses covered by Medicare includes physicians' services in the home, office or hospital, and other medical services and supplies, such as diagnostic tests, radiation therapy, rental of medical equipment, etc.

Reimbursement by Medicare for covered medical expenses will be 80 per cent of the charges which exceed fifty dollars. The first fifty dollars is referred to as a deductible, is not reimbursable, and has to be met in each calendar year. An important exception to this rule is that expenses incurred in the last three months of the year which are used to meet the deductible for that year can also be used again to meet the deductible in the following year. For more information or assistance with your first claim for reimbursement, visit the Jamestown social security office in the Federal Building. It is open until 3 p. m. every Friday, in addition to its regular office hours during the week. Social Security representatives can also be consulted at the State Armory in Warren from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. on Wednesdays.
